FAIRTRADE INDIA EXPERIENCE

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

- Deakin University will select two current students to experience this journey and who will responsibly share their journey by blogging and reporting.
  (See attachment 1 detail form)
- All flights and accommodation needs will be covered by Deakin University.
- Successful applicants must organize passports and ensure that immunisation has been addressed.
- Applicants will be met on airport arrival and assisted throughout the journey by various member of the Fair Trade India consortium.
- Home stay may be part of this journey, and successful applicants must be open to this experience and be socially comfortable in various cultural environments.

Deakin University is a Fairtrade Accredited University, a member of The Fairtrade Australian Forum. Deakin have assisted as a committee member on The Fairly Educated Conference 2012 and supported FEC2014.
WHAT IS FAIRTRADE

The Standard for Fair Trade covers ten aspects of fair trade, including creating opportunities for economically disadvantaged producers, payment of a fair price, gender equity, working conditions, capacity building, and the environment. See all ten standards in full.

Endorsed Fair Traders sell a range of products, such as handcrafts, arts, giftware, clothing, and Fairtrade Certified products including tea, coffee, chocolate, and sports balls, just to name a few. However, whether their products have the Fairtrade Label or not, the Trader has completed the assessment process to ensure that all products are fairly traded.

This means that whatever products you buy from an Endorsed Fair Trader, you can be sure that the trader sources most of their products by partnering with disadvantaged producers to give them the opportunity to trade their way out of poverty with dignity.