Law at Deakin

Commercial focus

Deakin's School of Law has established a reputation as a centre for excellence for commercial law, which is an important and challenging area of practice and one that is changing rapidly. As well as conducting litigation and facilitating property transactions, commercial lawyers are increasingly using their legal expertise to directly contribute to their clients' business ventures at the formative stages.

Industry input

The Bachelor of Laws (LLB) has been designed in close conjunction with professional groups and an Advisory Board with representation from the legal profession, judiciary, law association, law graduates and members of Deakin's School of Law. This ensures that our program is relevant to the current and emerging needs of the employers of law graduates.

Challenging and unique electives

The School of Law offers some exciting and challenging elective units that allow you to experience a diverse range of legal specialisations. These include Human Rights Law, Migration and Refugee Law, Family Law, Indian Law, Chinese Commercial Law and Environmental Law.

Practical legal training

From your first year of studying the Bachelor of Laws (LLB) course you will commence training in practical legal skills. Moot, Mediation, Arbitration and Witness Examination units are all embedded in the program and give you the opportunity to develop presentation skills and experience presenting in the court room. Regular, compulsory practical experience placements throughout the course also offer you the opportunity to experience legal environments first-hand and develop useful workplace contacts.

Courses aimed at getting you a career

Our LLB program has been designed to cover all the areas of law needed to satisfy the academic requirements for admission as a barrister and solicitor.

Studying law can lead you to an exciting range of careers including family law, criminal law, litigation, immigration law, tax or even personal injury law.

Committed staff

A number of Deakin's School of Law staff have won national teaching awards and all staff are committed to delivering relevant and innovative programs that enhance the student learning experience.

Combined law courses

In addition to our Bachelor of Laws, Deakin offers combined courses in law – commerce/laws, arts/laws, criminology/laws, laws/international studies, management/laws or science/laws. These courses enable you to complete two degrees in five years – thereby saving time and money. You will gain a powerful combination of skills and knowledge that employers prefer, giving you a further advantage in the workplace.

Flexible learning options

As a law student you can study full time, or part time, on or off campus, or combine a mix of study modes. Through Deakin's flexible approaches to teaching and learning, you may attend lectures on campus and receive face-to-face teaching, or study remotely from home or work.

The Warrnambool program

If you are passionate about studying law but concerned about your ATAR score then consider Deakin's law program at the Warrnambool Campus. Highly-dedicated staff and small class sizes will help you fulfil your ambition of a qualification in law.

Deakin law students undertake compulsory, practical experience placements as part of their course.

Law Clinic

Deakin's Law Clinic enables you to gain an appreciation of certain aspects of legal practice and to extend and deepen your theoretical knowledge and critical thinking skills whilst working in a community legal centre. During your placement in the legal centre you will receive instruction in the following areas of legal practice: taking instructions and client interviewing; fact finding; alternative dispute resolution and negotiation; providing advice and counselling of a legal nature; legal research and problem solving; the litigation process; and advocacy. At the successful completion of Law Clinic you will gain 1 credit point towards your degree. This elective unit allows you to gain first-hand experience in community law.

International experience

Give your degree a competitive edge with an international study experience. At Deakin, you can apply for international study experiences relevant to your course that provide you with learning experiences encompassing international and intercultural perspectives, while supporting a culture of diversity and awareness. Through such programs, our students develop a richer cultural understanding and become true global citizens.

International mooting competitions

Deakin's School of Law participates annually in the Vis Moot and Jessup Moot, both extremely prestigious international competitions. Each requires a high level of commitment but the knowledge and experience gained is invaluable. Both units provide a unique experience, allowing the combination of theoretical work, critical thinking and practical training on the international stage.

Study tours

At Deakin, you can experience an international study tour and gain credit towards your degree. Our study tours offer unique social and professional networking opportunities in India and China, integrating educational, cultural and practical experience, placing your studies in an international context.

For more information, please visit deakin.edu.au/buslaw/future-students/international.

Scholarships and grants

Deakin University offers scholarships for academic excellence, access and equity, accommodation and Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islanders, ensuring higher education is accessible for all members of the community. For more information on scholarships, please visit deakin.edu.au/scholarships.

Alfred Deakin Scholarships in Law

A small number of Alfred Deakin Scholarships in Law are awarded to the highest-scoring students admitted to the Bachelor of Laws (LLB) as a single degree or combined with another degree. These scholarships provide up to $2800 per year for four years of an LLB or five years of a combined law course, and the support of an academic mentor from the School of Law.

First in Family grants

The Faculty of Business and Law offers grants to financially assist students commencing an undergraduate degree from the Faculty at the Melbourne Burwood Campus, the Geelong Waterfront Campus or off campus. Awarded on the basis of academic merit, the cash grants are valued at $2000 ($250 per unit on successful completion of study).

For more information including eligibility criteria, please visit deakin.edu.au/buslaw/future-students/support/first-in-family.

Rural and regional grants

The Faculty of Business and Law has a grant scheme to assist rural students commencing an undergraduate degree in commerce, law or management at the Warrnambool Campus. Awarded on the basis of academic merit, the cash grants are valued at $2000 ($250 per unit on successful completion of study).

For more information, including eligibility criteria, please visit deakin.edu.au/buslaw/future-students/support/rural-regional.

Information about specific scholarships offered by the Faculty of Business and Law can be found at deakin.edu.au/buslaw/future-students/scholarships.

Where do our graduates go?

A Deakin law degree is a qualification that offers unequalled career opportunities, especially when combined with a degree in arts, international studies, criminology, commerce, management or science. Upon completion of a Deakin law degree, you will be qualified for employment as a barrister or solicitor. Alternatively, law graduates may enter other industries such as business, government service, industrial relations, law reform or public administration.

Recent Deakin graduates have been employed by a range of organisations including, but not limited to, the following:

- » Allens Arthur Robinson
- » Arnold Bloch Leibler
- » Australian Securities and Investments Commission
- » Australian Taxation Office
- » Blake Dawson
- » Clayton Utz
- » Department of Employment and Workplace Relations
- » Department of Prime Minister and Cabinet
- » Harwood Andrews
- » Mallesons Stephen Jacques
- » Minter Ellison.

Practical Legal Skills training

Deakin's Practical Legal Skills (PLS) program is a unique and extremely beneficial inclusion for our Bachelor of Laws degree. The program enhances your understanding of alternative dispute resolution through participation in a variety of tasks. The PLS program is an extremely valuable way to develop research and critical thinking skills, and the ability to present arguments orally and in writing, with some of these tasks undertaken in the Magistrates and County Courts. The PLS program requires the completion of four dispute resolution units – Moot, Mediation, Arbitration and Witness Examination. They are core requirements of the Bachelor of Laws degree and are normally undertaken as one unit in each year of your degree.

Melbourne Burwood Campus Library

Admission to practise

A distinctive feature of Deakin's Bachelor of Laws (LLB) is its deliberate orientation towards commercial law. The Deakin LLB and combined courses require you to study a range of units relevant to commercial law practice.

You will receive sound university training in all of the major areas of legal practice, such as contract, torts, criminal law and family law, and you will have the opportunity to select from a diverse range of elective units. The practical legal skills you will learn throughout your study, combined with the professional experience and networks you will develop, will put you on the right path for achieving your future career goals.

Deakin's LLB is designed to satisfy the academic requirements to become a barrister and solicitor in Victoria as set by the Council of Legal Education. In addition to completing an approved LLB degree, a person wishing to practise as a barrister or solicitor is required to complete a 12-month traineeship or clerkship, or a six-month legal practice course. This does not preclude students from other states from practice. However, interstate students must seek advice from the interstate admission boards to assess if there is a need to complete any additional requirements in order to satisfy the requirements of the state in which they intend to practise.

GRADUATE PROFILE

Robert Stephenson
Bachelor of Commerce/
Bachelor of Laws (Honours), 2010
Geelong Waurn Ponds Campus
Currently: Graduate position,
Lander & Rogers Lawyers

Two legal placement opportunities were the highlights of Robert's five-year course. In his third year he completed some voluntary research alongside high profile QC and human rights advocate, Julian Burnside. Then, in fourth year, he began a seasonal clerkship with law firm Lander & Rogers.

The Deakin Law Students' Society, of which he became Treasurer, produces a guide to applying for seasonal clerkships but securing a place is up to the individual's own efforts, he explains. 'The seasonal clerkship program is structured excellently,' he says. 'We got exposure to the range of tasks and interactions you can expect to encounter in practice.'

After completing the clerkship, Robert was one of 10 students permanently employed by Lander & Rogers. He entered the final year of his course knowing he had the graduate position in 2011.

'My work is varied and I have a good level of responsibility,' he says. 'I am appearing in the Magistrates' and County Courts, updating them on the progress of various matters, which is a thrill being so newly out of university.'

Courses

Please note, from 2013 the Geelong-based courses and major sequences offered by the Faculty of Business and Law will be offered from the Geelong Waterfront Campus instead of the Geelong Waurn Ponds Campus.

Deakin's Bachelor of Laws (LLB) is designed to produce first-class commercial lawyers. It provides studies in each of the major areas of legal practice together with an emphasis on practical legal skills training.

Deakin's LLB is one of the few in Australia with a commercial focus. Students engage in legal reasoning and legal skills, including negotiation, mediation, court appearances, legal drafting, statutory interpretation, professional work experience and law clinics. Deakin has an international reputation for its arbitration skills.

Honours is embedded as part of this degree.

Professional recognition

Deakin's law studies satisfy the academic requirements for admission to practise law in Victoria.

Career opportunities

Obtaining a law degree is normally the first step towards becoming a barrister or solicitor, and most students entering law school aspire to enter one of these branches of the legal profession.

As an alternative to practising as a barrister or solicitor, you may choose to enter:

- » business as a corporate lawyer, company administrator or business manager
- » government service as a lawyer with departments or authorities as diverse as the Attorney-General's Department, the Office of Parliamentary Counsel, the Office of the Director of Public Prosecutions, and the Australian Securities and Investments Commission
- » industrial relations
- » public administration
- » teaching at a university
- » law reform as law reform commissioner or research officer.

Work-Integrated Learning

To satisfy the law component of this course, and be eligible to graduate, you are required to complete the prescribed professional experience and four Practical Legal Skills units.

Professional experience

The practical experience requirements will provide you with an opportunity to enrich your legal education and theoretical knowledge and assist in preparing you for employment in the industry. Your degree is enhanced by the requirement to complete 30 days work placement in a legal environment to gain experience on how the law operates in practice, and to develop professional networks.

Practical Legal Skills

The Practical Legal Skills (PLS) program is unique to Deakin and designed to give you experience in a variety of different dispute resolution methods. The PLS program is a valuable way of developing research and critical thinking skills and the ability to present arguments orally and in writing. Moot, Mediation, Arbitration and Witness Examination are all an embedded part of the program which gives you the opportunity to develop presentation skills and experience presenting in the court room.

Law Clinic

As part of this course, Deakin also offers Law Clinic, a clinical skills unit which involves you working at a community legal centre under the supervision of a legal practitioner. This unit not only gives you credit towards your degree, it also enhances your overall learning experience, providing you with a unique insight into the community legal centre environment.

Course structure

You must complete 32 credit points of study, including 20 credit points of core units, four elective non-law units and four elective units which can be law or non-law units, which allows for some diversity in your studies.

In addition, you will be required to complete the prescribed Practical Legal Skills program and professional experience, further enhancing your studies.

'I studied as an off-campus student during the last two years of my degree. Off-campus study gave me the flexibility to study during the days and times which were most convenient. Almost all of my classes were recorded and posted online to listen to, so I didn't feel that I was missing out on important course information. I could always email and telephone lecturers or even arrange a time to meet them on campus if I had any problems.'

The combined Bachelor of Criminology/Bachelor of Laws course will allow you to not only satisfy the academic requirements to practise law in Victoria but also gain expertise in the area of criminology, including the fields of policing, security, corrections, crime prevention and community safety and paralegal fields.

Professional recognition

Deakin's law studies satisfy the academic requirements for admission to practise law in Victoria.

Career opportunities

A law degree, especially when combined with another degree, such as criminology, is a qualification that offers unequalled career opportunities. As an alternative to practising as a barrister or solicitor, you may enter many areas of work including business and management roles in a wide range of organisations, government services, and industrial relations. You may find a role in state and federal police, ASIO, correctional services, community services, and private security industries.

Work-Integrated Learning

Please refer to the Bachelor of Laws (M312) course entry on page 6 for Work-Integrated Learning requirements.

Course structure

You must complete 40 credit points of study, including 16 credit points from the Faculty of Arts and Education and 24 credit points from the Faculty of Business and Law. Course requirements for both the Bachelor of Criminology and the Bachelor of Laws must be satisfied.

Within the 24 credit points required in the Bachelor of Laws, 20 credit points are compulsory and 4 credit points are taken as elective law units. In addition, you will be required to complete the prescribed Practical Legal Skills program and professional experience.

There has been a pronounced internationalisation of the practise of law in the past decade. This course offers an international edge, with students committing to studying at an overseas university or taking up an internship with an overseas organisation.

You will develop understanding of international forces shaping government, business and community life in Australia; analyse and interpret these forces; develop cross-cultural competencies through an internationally oriented curriculum; participate in an international study experience; and learn the principles of the internationalisation of the law.

Professional recognition

Deakin's law studies satisfy the academic requirements for admission to practise law in Victoria.

Career opportunities

A law degree, especially when combined with another degree, such as international studies, is a qualification that offers unequalled career opportunities. As an alternative to practising as a barrister or solicitor with an international orientation, you may enter many areas of work including business and management roles in a wide range of organisations, government services, and industrial relations. You may find a role in research, public administration, policy analysis, defence, diplomatic service, the media, legal aid, law reform, teaching either in schools or universities, trade and aid or non-government organisations (NGOs) with regional, national and global links.

Work-Integrated Learning

Please refer to the Bachelor of Laws (M312) course entry on page 6 for Work-Integrated Learning requirements.

International study experience

You will have the opportunity to undertake one of the following:

- » trimester of study at an overseas university exchange partner
- » international internship (AIS330 or AIS331)
- » in-country language program (in Chinese, Indonesian or Arabic)
- » approved study abroad program
- » approved onshore internship with an international organisation (AIS330 only).

AIS330 and AIS331 internship units are normally undertaken in third year (or equivalent) and are subject to completion of specified prerequisite units and special application requirements. Interested students should contact the Faculty of Arts and Education Student Support and Enrolment Enquiries on their campus for more information.

Course structure

You must complete 40 credit points of study – 24 credit points from the Faculty of Business and Law and 16 credit points from the Faculty of Arts and Education. You must complete four core units; an approved international study experience; and either a major sequence in international relations and a sub-major selected from the list below; or a sub-major in international relations and a major sequence selected from the list below.

Within the 24 credit points required in the Bachelor of Laws, 20 credit points are compulsory and 4 credit points are taken as elective law units. In addition, you will be required to complete the prescribed Practical Legal Skills program and professional experience.

Combining another degree with a Bachelor of Laws is an excellent way to enhance understanding of the context in which the law operates. In the Bachelor of Science/Bachelor of Laws combined course, you can combine studies in law with studies in science, such as biological chemistry, biology, chemistry, environmental science, mathematical modelling or zoology.

Professional recognition

Deakin's law studies satisfy the academic requirements for admission to practise law in Victoria.

Career opportunities

A law degree, especially when combined with another degree such as science, is a qualification that offers diverse career opportunities. There is an increasing need for lawyers who understand science, and scientists who understand the law, to work in specialist roles and to deal with complex, often intertwined scientific and legal issues. As an alternative to practising as a barrister or solicitor, you may choose to pursue a career in business and management roles in a wide range of organisations, government services, industrial relations, research, public administration, diplomatic service, the media, legal aid, law reform or teaching either in schools or universities.

Work-Integrated Learning

As part of the Bachelor of Science component of this course you are required to complete Professional Practice. This allows you to gain valuable work experience, giving you the opportunity to apply and consolidate knowledge gained in your course, experience workplace culture and workplace practices, explore career options and develop a professional network. You will also have the opportunity to undertake Industry-Based Learning, which can be credited towards your degree.

Please refer to the Bachelor of Laws (M312) course entry on page 6 for the Work-Integrated Learning requirements for the Bachelor of Laws component of this course.

Deakin Law Students' Society

The Deakin Law Students' Society (DLSS) is a student-run organisation dedicated to furthering law students' interests. It is the role of the DLSS to ensure that each law student gains as much as possible from their time at Deakin, so that each may develop academically, professionally and personally.

The DLSS holds social functions, competitions and career seminars to aid and enhance students' educational and professional abilities, ensuring that Deakin law students remain some of the most sought-after law graduates in Australia.

Course structure

You must complete 40 credit points of study – 24 credit points from the Bachelor of Laws and 16 credit points from the Bachelor of Science, including at least one major sequence.

Within the 24 credit points required in the Bachelor of Laws, 20 credit points are compulsory and 4 credit points are taken as elective law units. In addition, you will be required to complete the prescribed Practical Legal Skills program and professional experience.

¹ The indicative first year fee is an approximate indication of the cost of this course in the first year of full-time study for a Commonwealth Supported Place. We can't specify the exact figure, because fees are charged per unit, not per course, so the actual fees may vary depending on what units you choose to study.

The fees quoted in this booklet are for Australian students in 2012, and may change for 2013 and later years. You can find more information about fees on our website at deakin.edu.au. For information on fees for international students, please visit deakin.edu.au/international.

How to apply

Applying to study at Deakin University is easy. Whether you are a current Year 12 student, TAFE graduate, mature-age student, non-school leaver, or international student studying VCE in Australia, you can apply to study a Deakin undergraduate course through the Victorian Tertiary Admissions Centre (VTAC) (unless stated otherwise in the admission guidelines).

When you are applying for a course, make sure you check all of the entry requirements carefully. Most courses have prerequisites and some have additional requirements that you will need to complete to be eligible for selection into that course. For prerequisite and extra requirement information, please visit the VTAC website www.vtac.edu.au.

Deakin University Law School Admission Test (DULSAT)/ Australian Law Schools Entrance Test (ALSET)

The DULSAT/ALSET is compulsory for most applicants applying for entry into any of Deakin University's undergraduate law degree programs: law (off campus), law (on campus), arts/law, commerce/law, criminology/law, law/international studies, science/law and management/law.

You are exempt from sitting the DULSAT/ALSET if you:

- i. are a current Year 12 student; or
- ii. are currently enrolled or were enrolled in a Bachelor of Laws (LLB) degree in 2010, 2011 or 2012, and have completed the equivalent of one full-time year at an Australian university (including at least two (LLB) law units); Bachelor of Laws/combined course or the Juris Doctor (no other law course is eligible under this exemption clause); or
- iii. completed Year 12 studies in 2009, 2010 or 2011 and have not undertaken any tertiary studies (including TAFE studies, diploma or above) in the interim; or
- iv. sat the DULSAT/ALSET in 2009, 2010 or 2011 and intend to use the result from that year; or
- v. have successfully completed an Australian postgraduate qualification in law in the last ten years (three out of four units must be law (LLB) units).

The DULSAT/ALSET is designed to assess a range of competencies commonly considered important for successful tertiary study in the area of law. The purpose of the DULSAT/ALSET is to appraise your ability to think critically about issues and understand the material given rather than to assess areas of knowledge of curriculum.

DULSAT/ALSET questions typically require candidates to read and think about a passage of writing, to interpret graphical displays of information, to use mathematical relationships and to reason about tables of data. The questions are based on a wide range of law-related stimulus materials. All the information required to answer questions is contained in the stimulus material. The DULSAT/ALSET is two hours in duration and contains 70 multiple-choice questions.

If you are unsure whether or not you need to sit the DULSAT/ALSET you should contact Deakin University directly by phone: 1300 DEGREE (1300 334 733). VTAC does not have the authority to advise applicants whether they are required to sit the test.

For more information on how to apply, including special consideration and deferment, check out our Undergraduate eBrochure at deakin.edu.au/ebrochure/undergrad or visit deakin.edu.au/future-students/applications-enrolments.

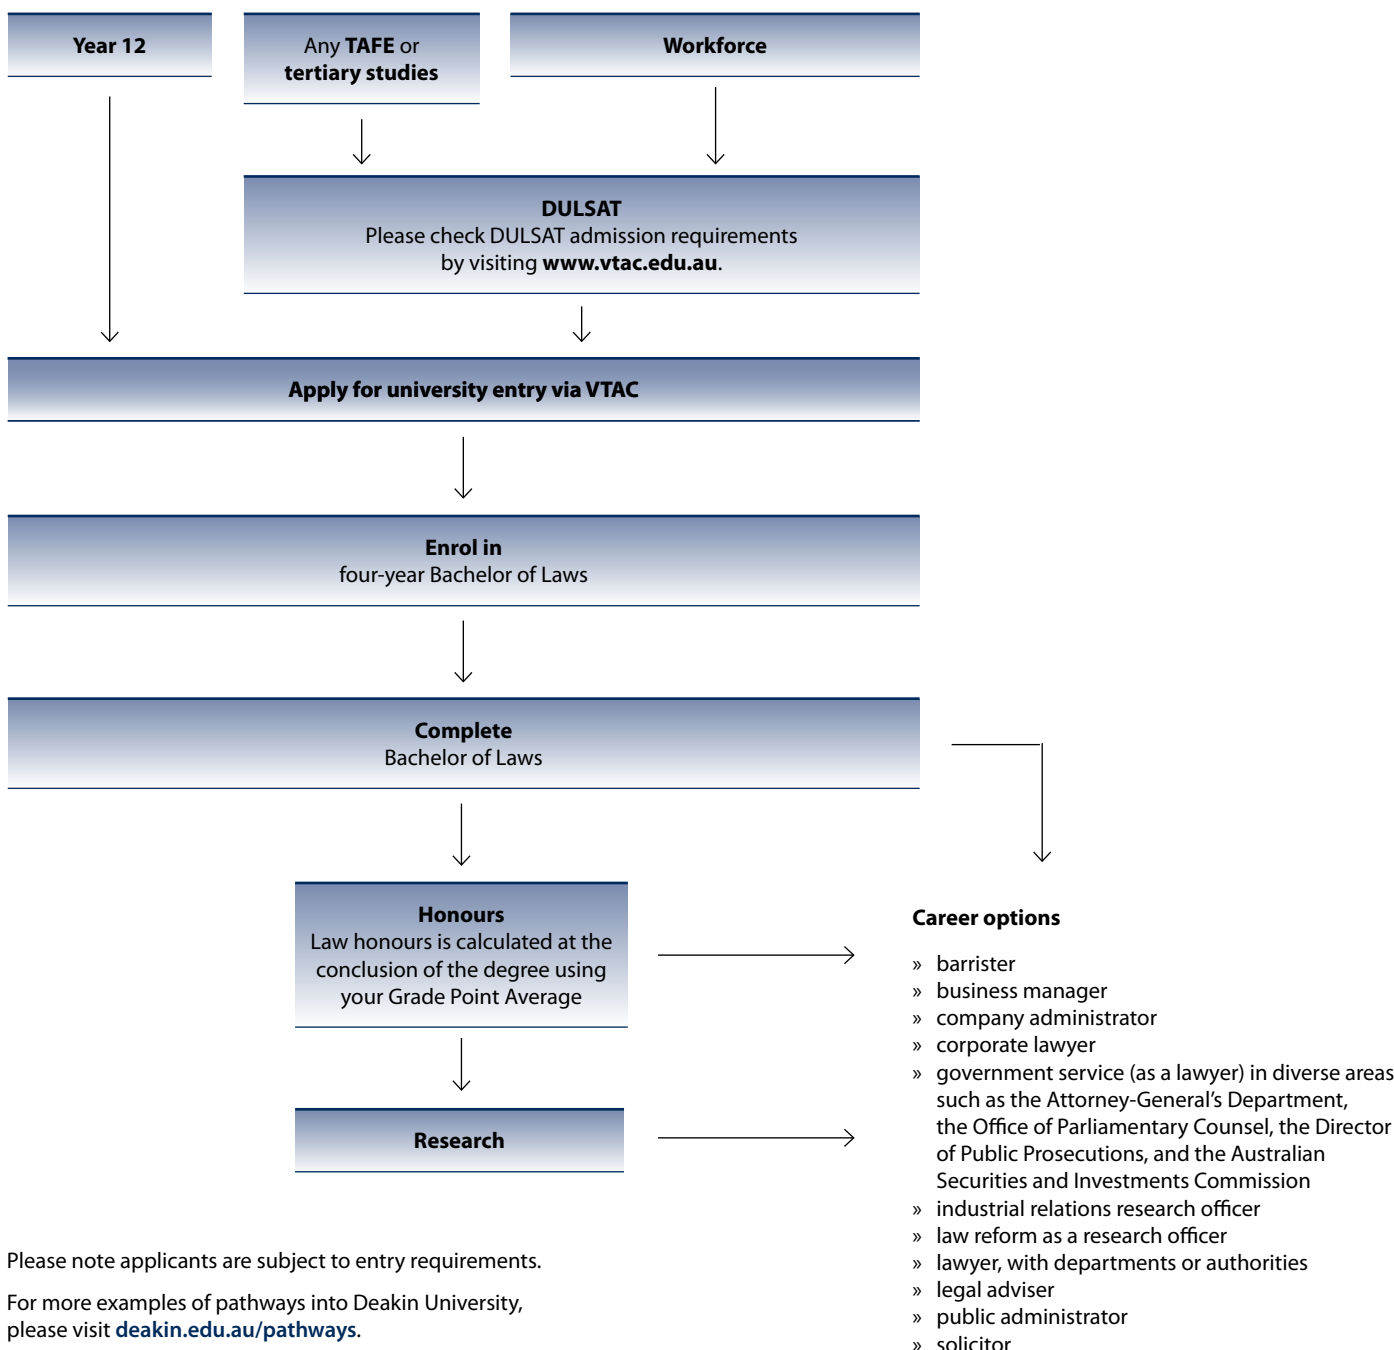

DID YOU KNOW?

Industry representatives sit on our Advisory Board to help ensure our courses remain relevant and produce graduates who are job-ready.

Pathways

Pathway programs provide alternative entry options which take into consideration previous qualifications or your time in the workforce. Deakin has pathway options for a range of applicants including current Year 12 students, International Baccalaureate (IB) students and non-school leavers. Examples for law students include:

Please note applicants are subject to entry requirements.

For more examples of pathways into Deakin University, please visit deakin.edu.au/pathways.

Alternative pathway

Deakin University students may apply for an internal course transfer into the Bachelor of Laws (LLB) degree. To be eligible to apply for an internal course transfer, applicants must be currently enrolled in an undergraduate degree at Deakin and have completed at least 8 credit points in that degree.

Applicants must also have attained a minimum of a distinction average (70 per cent and above) in order to be eligible to transfer into a law course. Students who have completed more than two-thirds of their current course are not eligible to make an application for an internal transfer.

Applicants must apply directly to the School of Law using a Course Transfer Application Form (available from the Law School Office at the Melbourne Burwood Campus or the Faculty campus office at the Geelong Warrn Ponds Campus or the Warrnambool Campus).

Choice of campus

One of the great things about Deakin is that we have four campuses throughout Victoria. Many of our courses are offered at more than one campus and the ATAR required for each campus often differs, but the same high-quality degree is delivered no matter which campus you study at. This provides you with more entry options and enables you to transfer your studies from one campus to another.

For more information on pathways into Deakin University, please visit deakin.edu.au/pathways.

GRADUATE SNAPSHOT

Lucy Carter
Bachelor of Commerce/Bachelor of Laws
Melbourne Burwood Campus

'The Bachelor of Commerce/Bachelor of Laws at Deakin is a fantastic course that can provide amazing opportunities. I've learnt so much while studying – not just about the law, but about myself, my career and people.

We've had the opportunity to moot in the Magistrates Court and conduct witness examinations in the County Court. I was also lucky enough to get clerkships at two fantastic firms. It was a great experience, working hands-on in areas of the law where I previously hadn't had any experience.'

GRADUATE SNAPSHOT

Kayne Harwood
Bachelor of Laws, 2011
Geelong Waurn Ponds Campus
Now: Legal traineeship, TAC, and studying
Bachelor of Commerce, off campus

No one could accuse Kayne Harwood of failing to take advantage of every opportunity that Deakin sent his way. Kayne topped four subjects during his law degree, undertook seasonal clerkships with the TAC and Geelong law firm Harwood Andrews, completed work experience with the CSIRO and the Office of Public Prosecutions, travelled to Hong Kong and Vienna to represent Deakin in international mooting competitions, and took part in study programs in Korea and Japan.

'There are amazing opportunities out there if you keep your eyes open,' says Kayne.

'I like to think [my experiences] have broadened my experience base and made me aware of the opportunities in the global market. I have gained experience in interacting with different cultures and participating in cross-cultural relations. My advice is to make the most of all the opportunities university offers.'
