

INDEX

These journals throw light on certain persons, such as Nehru, Sukarno, Menzies and Casey, important at the time, and on certain situations as the West New Guinea affair, Colombo Plan, and Vietnam, and certain factors such as American and Australian policies, espionage, diplomatic practice, and national traits, but their main interest is likely to be clues they could suggest to researchers into the period 1950-1970.

As the journals run to over 4000 pages and 20 volumes a consolidated index is set out in the pages which follow. It is divided into three Parts :-

Part I lists the countries served in, together with the dates.

Part II, which contains some 70 entries, lists the persons, situations and factors of main importance at the time with which the writer had direct contact.

Part III lists the remaining persons and matters discussed. As these entries run to over 3000 a hundred or so of them of particular interest have been underlined in red.

The chief gap in the index is that, saving a few exceptions indicated by off after a page number, the newspaper cuttings pasted on the pages opposite the script are not covered. They illustrate various points made in the text and could be of interest to researchers.

Part III

Remaining items noted in the journals. Those of particular interest are underlined in red.

Caveat

Something went awry with the indexing of M. Thus Mc comes after Mo, and various Mo items are out of sequence as also are Mac Mc.

Moreover, Mo comes after Mu.
I suggest that the librarians M again.
