EXPLORE THE WORLD OF LAW AT DEAKIN

If you are aspiring to be a first-class lawyer, trained in each of the major areas of legal practice, studies in law at Deakin can help you achieve your dreams.

As a Deakin student you will have flexible study options and the ability to gain hands-on industry experience, preparing you for employment upon graduation. Our mission is to be engaged with you and our partners in the provision of flexible educational programs and relevant research.

Our courses are informed by practising respected lawyers, which ensures the curriculum we're delivering is producing graduates who are suited to practise law or enter a range of law-related careers.

This booklet provides information about the courses we offer in law, their key features and the career opportunities that may be available to you after completing a law degree at Deakin.

Choosing a university course is an important decision – and we are here to help. We encourage you to gather as much information as possible to help you make an informed decision about which course is best for you.

If you need more information, please contact us on 1300 DEGREE (1300 334 733), email enquire@deakin.edu.au or visit deakin.edu.au.

We look forward to seeing you at Deakin!

Using this guide

This booklet provides you with detailed information about Deakin's undergraduate courses in law (for domestic students), including study areas, career opportunities, course overviews and course structures. It is designed to be read in conjunction with the 2014 Undergraduate Course Guide, which gives an overview of all of Deakin's undergraduate courses, study options, support services and campuses.

Deakin University also produces course guides specifically for international students. To request a copy phone Deakin International on +61 3 9627 4877 or email deakin-international@deakin.edu.au.

Applying to Deakin is easy

You can apply for most of Deakin's undergraduate courses (bachelor's degrees) commencing in Trimester 1 through the Victorian Tertiary Admissions Centre (VTAC). We also offer courses commencing at other times of the year, for example Trimester 2 (commencing in August) and Trimester 3 (commencing in November), that require a direct application to Deakin. Whether you are a current Year 12, TAFE, private provider or mature-age student, currently studying at another university, in the workforce, taking a gap year or a graduate, visit www.vtac.edu.au or deakin.edu.au/study-at-deakin for details.

LAW AT DEAKIN

Our law courses have a commercial focus

Deakin's School of Law has established a reputation as a centre of excellence for commercial law, which is an important and challenging area of practice and one that is changing rapidly. As well as conducting litigation and facilitating property transactions, commercial lawyers are increasingly using their legal expertise to directly contribute to their clients' business ventures at the formative stages.

Our courses have industry input

The Bachelor of Laws (LLB) has been designed in close conjunction with professional groups and an Advisory Board with representation from the legal profession, judiciary, law association, law graduates and members of Deakin's School of Law. This ensures that our program is relevant to the current and emerging needs of the employers of law graduates.

We offer challenging and unique electives

The School of Law offers exciting and challenging elective units that allow you to experience a diverse range of legal specialisations. These include Human Rights Law, Migration and Refugee Law, Family Law, Indian Law, Chinese Commercial Law and Environmental Law.

We have committed staff

A number of Deakin's School of Law staff have won national teaching awards and all staff are committed to delivering relevant and innovative programs that enhance the student learning experience.

LAW CLINIC

Deakin's Law Clinic enables you to gain an appreciation of certain aspects of legal practice and to extend and deepen your theoretical knowledge and critical thinking skills while working in a community legal centre. During your placement in the legal centre you will receive instruction in the following areas of legal practice: taking instructions and client interviewing; fact finding; alternative dispute resolution and negotiation; providing advice and counselling of a legal nature; legal research and problem solving; the litigation process; and advocacy. At the successful completion of Law Clinic you will gain 1 credit point towards your degree. This elective unit allows you to gain first-hand experience in community law.

Practical legal training

In your final year, you will undertake a unique capstone unit, 'Legal Problem-Solving and Persuasion', which will teach you about the science of persuasion and approaching problems in a clear-minded manner in order to achieve optimum outcomes. In the process you will develop presentation skills and experience presenting in the court room.

Regular, compulsory practical experience placements throughout the course also offer you the opportunity to experience legal environments first-hand and develop useful workplace contacts.

Our courses are aimed at getting you a career

Our LLB program has been designed to cover all the areas of law needed to satisfy the academic requirements for admission to practise law as a barrister and solicitor in Victoria.

Studying law can lead you to an exciting range of careers including family law, criminal law, litigation, immigration law, tax or even personal injury law.

We offer combined law courses

In addition to our Bachelor of Laws, Deakin offers combined courses – commerce/law, arts/law, criminology/law, law/international studies, management/law and science/law. These courses enable you to complete two degrees in five years – thereby saving time and money. You will gain a powerful combination of skills and knowledge that employers prefer, giving you a further advantage in the workplace.

You will have flexible learning options

As a law student at Deakin you can study full time, or part time, on campus (located learning) or off campus, or combine a mix of study modes. Through Deakin's flexible approaches to teaching and learning, you may attend lectures on campus and receive face-to-face teaching, or study remotely from home or work.

Consider the Warrnambool program

If you are passionate about studying law but concerned about your ATAR then consider studying Deakin's law program at the Warrnambool Campus. Highly-dedicated staff deliver the same high-quality degree as at our other campuses, with the additional benefit of small class sizes.

AN ELITE ATHLETE FRIENDLY UNIVERSITY

As a member of the Elite Athlete Friendly University (EAFU) Network, Deakin is dedicated to supporting elite athletes in their quest to achieve academic success alongside the demands of training and competition.

We enable recognised elite athlete students to negotiate assessment deadlines, lecture and tutorial attendance and study loads to integrate with sporting commitments. Student athletes may also be able to take several leaves of absence in order to meet sporting commitments and extend the amount of time normally allowed to complete a course.

For more information, please visit deakin.edu.au/future-students/why-deakin/eafu.

Scholarships and grants

Deakin University offers scholarships for academic excellence, access and equity, accommodation and Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islanders, ensuring higher education is accessible for all members of the community. For more information on scholarships, please visit deakin.edu.au/scholarships.

Alfred Deakin Scholarships in Law

A small number of Alfred Deakin Scholarships in Law are awarded to the highest-scoring students admitted to the Bachelor of Laws (LLB) as a single degree or combined with another degree. These scholarships provide up to $2800 per year for four years of an LLB or five years of a combined law course, and the support of an academic mentor from the School of Law.

First in Family grants

The Faculty of Business and Law offers grants to financially assist students commencing an undergraduate degree from the faculty at the Melbourne Burwood Campus, the Geelong Waterfront Campus or off campus. Awarded on the basis of academic merit, the cash grants are valued at $2000 ($250 per unit on successful completion of study) and paid in the first year of study.

Rural and regional grants

The Faculty of Business and Law has a grant scheme to assist rural students commencing an undergraduate degree in commerce, law or management at the Warrnambool Campus. Awarded on the basis of academic merit, the cash grants are valued at $2000 ($250 per unit on successful completion of study) and paid in the first year of study.

Information about specific scholarships offered by the Faculty of Business and Law can be found at deakin.edu.au/buslaw/students/scholarships.

For more information about Deakin's Access and Equity programs and how to apply, please visit deakin.edu.au/access-equity.

Experience the world while you study

Give your degree a competitive edge with an international study experience. At Deakin, you can apply for international study experiences relevant to your course that provide you with learning experiences encompassing international and intercultural perspectives, while supporting a culture of diversity and awareness. Through such programs, our students develop a richer cultural understanding and become true global citizens.

International mooting competitions

Deakin's School of Law participates annually in the Vis Moot and Jessup Moot, both extremely prestigious international competitions. Each requires a high level of commitment but the knowledge and experience gained is invaluable. Both competitions provide a unique experience, allowing the combination of theoretical work, critical thinking and practical training on the international stage.

Study tours

At Deakin, you can experience an international study tour and gain credit towards your degree. Our study tours offer unique social and professional networking opportunities in India and China, integrating educational, cultural and practical experience, placing your studies in an international context.

For more information, please visit deakin.edu.au/current-students/get-involved/bus-law/study-tours.

DANIEL FULLERTON

BACHELOR OF ARTS/
BACHELOR OF LAWS
GEELONG WAURN PONDS CAMPUS

'Competing in the Willem C. Vis International Commercial Arbitration Moot has by far been one of the best experiences of my law degree. The Vis Moot has developed every practical legal skill that I will need in my career, from written and oral advocacy, to research skills and team collaboration. It has built friendships, allowed me to develop a deep knowledge of a fascinating area of law, and introduced me to a network of leading practitioners within the field ... and this was before I had even left Australia!

To take the skills and knowledge gained from the moot and apply them on an international stage is a unique and amazing experience. The Vis Moot has opened my legal education to global proportions, and is an experience I will take with me for the rest of my degree and well into my legal career.'

WHERE DO OUR GRADUATES GO?

MARIA CIVISIC

BACHELOR OF COMMERCE/BACHELOR OF LAWS
GEELONG WAURN PONDS CAMPUS

'I chose this course because it reflected my interests. I did legal studies and business management at school and both law and commerce suit my personality. I am a thinker and I like to analyse, so this course played to my strengths. I also enjoy a challenge and it is a challenging course.

In my third year, I undertook an exchange to Oxford Brookes University. Employers like to see you are not just study focused. Going overseas shows you have the ability to adapt to new situations and work outside your comfort zone.

In 2012 I undertook a legal internship with the Solicitor's Office at Deakin, which provided great exposure to the legal industry. I am also a permanent paralegal, working at Barwon Legal Community Service every week, doing court duty and occasionally assisting solicitors with legal research and client matters.'

A Deakin law degree is a qualification that offers unequalled career opportunities, especially when combined with a degree in arts, information systems, international studies, criminology, commerce, management or science. Upon completion of a Deakin law degree, you will be qualified for employment as a barrister or solicitor. Alternatively, law graduates may enter other industries such as business, government service, industrial relations, law reform or public administration.

Recent Deakin graduates have been employed by a range of organisations including, but not limited to, the following:

- Allens Arthur Robinson
- Arnold Bloch Leibler
- Australian Securities and Investments Commission
- Australian Taxation Office
- Blake Dawson
- Clayton Utz
- Department of Education, Employment and Workplace Relations
- Department of the Prime Minister and Cabinet
- Harwood Andrews
- Mallesons Stephen Jacques
- Minter Ellison.

ADMISSION TO PRACTISE

Deakin's Bachelor of Laws (LLB) is designed to satisfy the academic requirements to become a barrister and solicitor in Victoria as set by the Council of Legal Education. In addition to completing an approved LLB degree, a person wishing to practise as a barrister or solicitor is required to complete a 12-month traineeship or clerkship, or a six-month legal practice course. This does not preclude students from other states from practise; however, interstate students must seek advice from the interstate admission boards to assess if there is a need to complete any additional requirements in order to satisfy the requirements of the state in which they intend to practise. A distinctive feature of Deakin's LLB is its deliberate orientation towards commercial law. The Deakin LLB and combined courses require you to study a range of units relevant to commercial law practice.

You will receive sound university training in all of the major areas of legal practice, such as contract, torts, criminal law and family law, and you will have the opportunity to select from a diverse range of elective units. The practical legal skills you will learn throughout your study, combined with the professional experience and networks you will develop, will put you on the right path for achieving your future career goals.

You are exempt from sitting the ALSET if you:

- » are a current Year 12 student; or
- » have completed Year 12 studies in 2010, 2011 or 2012 and have not undertaken any tertiary studies (including TAFE studies, diploma or above) in the interim; or
- » sat the ALSET in 2010, 2011 or 2012 and intend to use the result from that year; or
- » are currently enrolled or were enrolled in a Bachelor of Laws, Bachelor of Laws/combined course or the Juris Doctor (no other law course is eligible under this exemption clause) in 2011, 2012 or 2013 and have completed the equivalent of one full-time year at an Australian university (including at least two law (LLB) units); or
- » have successfully completed an Australian postgraduate qualification in law in the past 10 years (three out of four units must be law (LLB) units).

Deakin's Bachelor of Laws (LLB) is designed to produce first-class commercial lawyers. It provides studies in each of the major areas of legal practice together with an emphasis on practical legal skills training.

Deakin's LLB is one of the few in Australia with a commercial focus. Students engage in legal reasoning and legal skills, including negotiation, mediation, court appearances, legal drafting, statutory interpretation, professional work experience and law clinics. Deakin has an international reputation for its arbitration skills.

Honours is embedded as part of this degree.

Professional recognition

Deakin's law studies satisfy the academic requirements for admission to practise law in Victoria.

Career opportunities

Obtaining a law degree is normally the first step towards becoming a barrister or solicitor, and most students entering law school aspire to enter one of these branches of the legal profession.

As an alternative to practising as a barrister or solicitor, you may choose to enter:

- business as a corporate lawyer, company administrator or business manager
- government service as a lawyer with departments or authorities as diverse as the Attorney-General's Department, the Office of Parliamentary Counsel, the Office of the Director of Public Prosecutions, and the Australian Securities and Investments Commission
- industrial relations
- law reform as a law reform commissioner or research officer
- public administration
- teaching at a university.

Work-Integrated Learning

To be eligible to graduate, you are required to complete the prescribed professional experience, further enhancing your studies.

Professional experience

The practical experience requirements will provide you with an opportunity to enrich your legal education and theoretical knowledge, and assist in preparing you for employment in the industry. Your degree is enhanced by the requirement to complete 30 days of work placement in a legal environment to gain experience on how the law operates in practice, and to develop professional networks.

Practical legal training

In your final year, you will undertake a unique capstone unit, 'Legal Problem-Solving and Persuasion', which will teach you about the science of persuasion and approaching problems in a clear-minded manner in order to achieve optimum outcomes. In the process you will develop presentation skills and experience presenting in the court room.

Regular, compulsory practical experience placements throughout the course also offer you the opportunity to experience legal environments first-hand and develop useful workplace contacts.

Law Clinic

As part of this course, Deakin also offers Law Clinic, a clinical skills unit which involves you working at a community legal centre under the supervision of a legal practitioner. This unit not only gives you credit towards your degree, it also enhances your overall learning experience, providing you with a unique insight into the community legal centre environment.

Course structure

You must complete 32 credit points of study, including 21 credit points of core units, four elective non-law units and three elective units that can be law or non-law units, which allows for some diversity in your studies.

KAYNE HARWOOD

BACHELOR OF LAWS
 GEELONG WAURN PONDS CAMPUS

'During my law degree, I undertook two seasonal clerkships with the TAC and Geelong law firm Harwood Andrews, completed work experience with the CSIRO and the Office of Public Prosecutions, travelled to Hong Kong and Vienna to represent Deakin in international moot competitions and took part in study programs in Korea and Japan.

The clerkships proved invaluable. There is a big difference between studying the law and practising the law. At uni you learn a lot about substantive law and legal principles, but on the job the focus is on procedure.

My work experience broadened my knowledge and rounded out my resume. I think it helps to show prospective employers that you have been proactive in gaining practical experience.

I like to think [my experiences] have broadened my knowledge base and made me aware of the opportunities in the global market. I have gained experience in interacting with different cultures and participating in cross-cultural relations. My advice is to make the most of all the opportunities the university offers.'

COURSES

KATHRYN NEALE

BACHELOR OF ARTS/BACHELOR OF LAWS WARRNAMBOOL CAMPUS AND OFF CAMPUS

'I completed the first two years of my course in Warrnambool. The smaller class sizes in Warrnambool make it a lot easier – we only had about 20 in our class. Having personal contact with the lecturers helps you find your feet and we got to know everyone in the class which really helps.

I studied as an off-campus student during the last two years of my degree. Off-campus study gave me the flexibility to study during the days and times that were most convenient. Almost all of my classes were recorded and posted online to listen to, so I didn't feel that I was missing out on important course information. I could always email and telephone lecturers or even arrange a time to meet them on campus if I had any problems.

In my final year I secured a casual position with Maddens Lawyers in Warrnambool, then took on a full-time position there as a lawyer at the beginning of 2012. Since this time I have been working on the 2009 Black Saturday Bushfire Class Actions. This work has enabled me to work closely with a team of other lawyers and barristers as well as instruct in the Supreme Court.'

Combining an arts degree with a law degree enhances your understanding of the context in which the law operates. In this combined course you can choose to study areas such as history, sociology, philosophy, politics or literature in addition to law studies.

Professional recognition

Deakin's law studies satisfy the academic requirements for admission to practise law in Victoria.

Career opportunities

A law degree, especially when combined with another degree such as arts, is a qualification that offers diverse career opportunities. As an alternative to practising as a barrister or solicitor, you may enter many areas of work including business and management roles in a wide range of organisations, government services, and industrial relations. You may find a role in research, public administration, diplomatic service, the media, legal aid, law reform or teaching either in schools or universities.

ANTHONY JENSEN

BACHELOR OF COMMERCE/BACHELOR OF LAWS GEELONG WAURN PONDS CAMPUS

'I completed a combined course in commerce and law at Deakin's Geelong Waurn Ponds Campus. I had heard really positive things about Deakin. The combined course was great – it gave me an insight into the best parts of both disciplines. The course allowed me to bring a legal mind to my study of accounting and management subjects, and consider more practical business aspects when learning about the law such as contracts or tax.

I now work as a litigation lawyer in the Chief Legal Office of the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (ASIC). The most rewarding part of my job is when I get to work on litigation on behalf of people who have been harmed by corporate collapses or poor financial advice, and hopefully get some compensation for them. The great thing about ASIC is that it is at the forefront of corporations law. Some of the actions we take actually help shape the law, by highlighting inappropriate corporate behaviour.

I have found that my Deakin degree has served me well in furthering my career development and academic accomplishments, which include undertaking a secondment at King & Wood Mallesons and obtaining a Master of Laws in 2011.

The Bachelor of Commerce/Bachelor of Laws combined course allows you to gain a sound understanding of the context in which the law operates in the business world. The Bachelor of Laws emphasises a case study approach and has a strong practical legal skills component. You will also gain comprehensive knowledge in business studies. The Bachelor of Commerce allows you to gain a solid foundation in key business disciplines.

Professional recognition

Deakin's law studies satisfy the academic requirements for admission to practise law in Victoria.

Deakin's Bachelor of Commerce is internationally recognised and EPAS accredited by the European Foundation for Management Development (EFMD).

The Bachelor of Commerce can lead to accreditation with many professional bodies, such as the Certified Practising Accountant (CPA) Program of CPA Australia, entry into the CA Program of the Institute of Chartered Accountants in Australia (ICAA), the Association of Chartered Certified Accountants (ACCA), the Institute of Public Accountants Professional Accounting Program, the Australian Computer Society (ACS), the Economics Society of Australia and the Australian Marketing Institute, providing you meet the specified requirements within the course.

Career opportunities

This combined course offers rewarding career opportunities. As an alternative to practising as a barrister or solicitor, you may pursue a career in business and management in a wide range of organisations, government services, industrial relations, research, public administration, diplomatic service, legal aid, the media, law reform or teaching in universities. Broad career paths based on the study of selected commerce units enable a range of job prospects such as professional accountant, IT and systems professional, economist, financial planner, human resources manager, manager, social and economic policy developer, international trade officer and marketing assistant/manager.

VCE units 3 and 4 – a study score of at least 35 in English (ESL) or 30 in any other English.	See Bachelor of Laws on page 6.

The Bachelor of Criminology/Bachelor of Laws combined course will allow you to not only satisfy the academic requirements to practise law in Victoria but also gain expertise in the area of criminology, including the fields of policing, security, corrections, crime prevention, community safety and paralegal fields.

Professional recognition

Deakin's law studies satisfy the academic requirements for admission to practise law in Victoria.

Career opportunities

A law degree, especially when combined with another degree such as criminology, is a qualification that offers unequalled career opportunities. As an alternative to practising as a barrister or solicitor, you may enter many areas of work including business and management roles in a wide range of organisations, government services, and industrial relations. You may find a role in state or federal policing, ASIO, correctional services, community services or private security industries.

Work-Integrated Learning

Please refer to the Bachelor of Laws (M312) course entry on page 6 for Work-Integrated Learning requirements.

Course structure

You must complete 40 credit points of study, including 16 credit points from the Bachelor of Criminology and 24 credit points from the Bachelor of Laws.

Within the 24 credit points required from the Bachelor of Laws, 21 credit points are compulsory and 3 credit points are taken as elective law units. In addition, you will be required to complete the prescribed professional experience.

Combining information systems with law prepares you for the practise of law in the 'Information Age,' where information is easily captured and used by organisations and individuals, and technological innovation is challenging the boundaries of privacy and security. The course prepares you for new cutting-edge careers in legal practice brought about by one of the greatest periods of innovation driven by technology.

Professional recognition

Deakin's law studies satisfy the academic requirements for admission to practise law in Victoria.

Career opportunities

A law degree, especially when combined with another degree such as information systems, is a qualification that offers unequalled career opportunities.

Information systems professionals have access to employment in just about every Australian industry, including all levels of government. The Bachelor of Information Systems is designed to give you essential business skills, as well as expertise in information systems, enabling you to achieve specialist information systems career roles such as project manager, business analyst, security analyst, database developer, web designer and information systems project leader.

For information on career opportunities for the Bachelor of Laws, refer to page 6.

There has been a pronounced internationalisation of the practise of law in the past decade. This course provides an international perspective, with students committing to study at an overseas university or taking up an internship with an overseas organisation.

You will develop an understanding of international forces shaping government, business and community life in Australia; analyse and interpret these forces; develop cross-cultural competencies through an internationally oriented curriculum; participate in an international study experience; and learn the principles of the internationalisation of the law.

Professional recognition

Deakin's law studies satisfy the academic requirements for admission to practise law in Victoria.

Career opportunities

A law degree, especially when combined with another degree such as international studies, is a qualification that offers unequalled career opportunities. As an alternative to practising as a barrister or solicitor with an international orientation, you may enter many areas of work including business and management roles in a wide range of organisations, government services and industrial relations. You may find a role in research, public administration, policy analysis, defence, diplomatic service, the media, legal aid, law reform, trade, teaching either in schools or universities, and in aid or non-government organisations (NGOs) with regional, national and global links.

Work-Integrated Learning

Please refer to the Bachelor of Laws (M312) course entry on page 6 for Work-Integrated Learning requirements.

International study experience

You will have the opportunity to undertake one of the following:

- trimester of study at an overseas university exchange partner
- international internship (AIS330 or AIS331)
- in-country language program (in Chinese, Indonesian or Arabic)
- approved study abroad program
- approved onshore internship with an international organisation (AIS330 only).

AIS330 and AIS331 internship units are normally undertaken in third year (or equivalent) and are subject to completion of specified prerequisite units and special application requirements. Interested students should contact the Faculty of Arts and Education Student Support and Enrolment Enquiries on their campus for more information.

Course structure

You must complete 40 credit points of study – 24 credit points from the Bachelor of Laws and 16 credit points from the Bachelor of International Studies. You must complete four core units; an approved international study experience; and either a major sequence in international relations and a sub-major selected from the list below; or a sub-major in international relations and a major sequence selected from the list below.

Within the 24 credit points required from the Bachelor of Laws, 21 credit points are compulsory and 3 credit points are taken as elective law units. In addition, you will be required to complete the prescribed professional experience.

DR DOMINIQUE ALLEN

SENIOR LECTURER
SCHOOL OF LAW
MELBOURNE BURWOOD CAMPUS

'Prior to becoming an academic, I practised as a solicitor in commercial law for a large semi-private organisation.

At Deakin I teach MLL111 Contract and MLL342 Workplace Law. In Contract, students learn about forming a contract, breach and remedies. This gives them a foundation to study other areas of commercial law including Workplace Law, which examines the employment contract and how labour law is regulated by various pieces of legislation. Workplace Law is a very topical and often controversial area of the law, which makes it interesting to teach and study, and students find it easy to engage with. As it has changed so much in the past decade, it's a very vibrant area of law to teach.

To study law, you need to be prepared to do lots of reading and writing. They are two fundamental skills a good lawyer will possess. As well as improving these skills, studying law will develop your ability to reason and persuade.'

DEAKIN LAW STUDENTS' SOCIETY

The Deakin Law Students' Society (DLSS) is a student-run organisation dedicated to furthering law students' interests. It is the role of the DLSS to ensure that each law student gains as much as possible from their time at Deakin, so that each may develop academically, professionally and personally. The DLSS holds social functions, competitions and career seminars to aid and enhance students' educational and professional abilities, ensuring that Deakin law students remain some of the most sought-after law graduates in Australia.

COURSES

DR JASON TALIADOROS

SENIOR LECTURER AND INTERIM
ASSOCIATE HEAD OF SCHOOL (TEACHING AND LEARNING)
SCHOOL OF LAW
MELBOURNE BURWOOD CAMPUS

'I try to encourage a relaxed and informal learning environment in which students feel comfortable asking questions and making comments. I consult with industry regularly on the curriculum design, and involve industry by inviting guest speakers such as judges, lawyers and senior policy and legal officers from the relevant statutory bodies.

The highest achieving student in the unit MLL315 Personal Injuries Compensation Schemes will have the opportunity to complete a six-week placement at WorkSafe, the statutory authority that administers the workers' compensation scheme in Victoria. Students have found the experience invaluable, and that it opens the door to further work experiences. This unit is unique to Deakin.

I would recommend Deakin because students in our law program will experience excellent teaching; they will focus on commercial and practical aspects of the law thus making them "work-ready" to a greater extent than graduates from other law programs; and they may have the opportunity to study MLL315, which is not offered at any other university.'

Combining a science degree with a Bachelor of Laws is an excellent way to enhance your understanding of the context in which the law operates. In the Bachelor of Science/Bachelor of Laws combined course, you can combine studies in law with studies in science, such as biological chemistry, biology, chemistry, environmental science, mathematical modelling or zoology.

Professional recognition

Deakin's law studies satisfy the academic requirements for admission to practise law in Victoria.

Career opportunities

A law degree, especially when combined with another degree such as science, is a qualification that offers diverse career opportunities. There is an increasing need for lawyers who understand science, and scientists who understand the law, to work in specialist roles and to deal with complex, often intertwined scientific and legal issues. As an alternative to practising as a barrister or solicitor, you may choose to pursue a career in business and management roles in a wide range of organisations, government services, industrial relations, research, public administration, diplomatic service, the media, legal aid, law reform or teaching either in schools or universities.

Work-Integrated Learning

As part of the Bachelor of Science component of this course you are required to complete Professional Practice. This allows you to gain valuable work experience, giving you the opportunity to apply and consolidate knowledge gained in your course, experience workplace culture and workplace practices, explore career options, and develop a professional network. You will also have the opportunity to undertake Industry-Based Learning, which can be credited towards your degree.

Please refer to the Bachelor of Laws (M312) course entry on page 6 for the Work-Integrated Learning requirements for the Bachelor of Laws component of this course.

Course structure

You must complete 40 credit points of study – 24 credit points from the Bachelor of Laws and 16 credit points from the Bachelor of Science, including at least one major sequence.

Within the 24 credit points required from the Bachelor of Laws, 21 credit points are compulsory and 3 credit points are taken as elective law units. In addition, you will be required to complete the prescribed professional experience.

1 The indicative first year fee is an approximate indication of the cost of this course in the first year of full-time study for a Commonwealth Supported Place. We can't specify the exact figure, because fees are charged per unit, not per course, so the actual fees may vary depending on what units you choose to study.

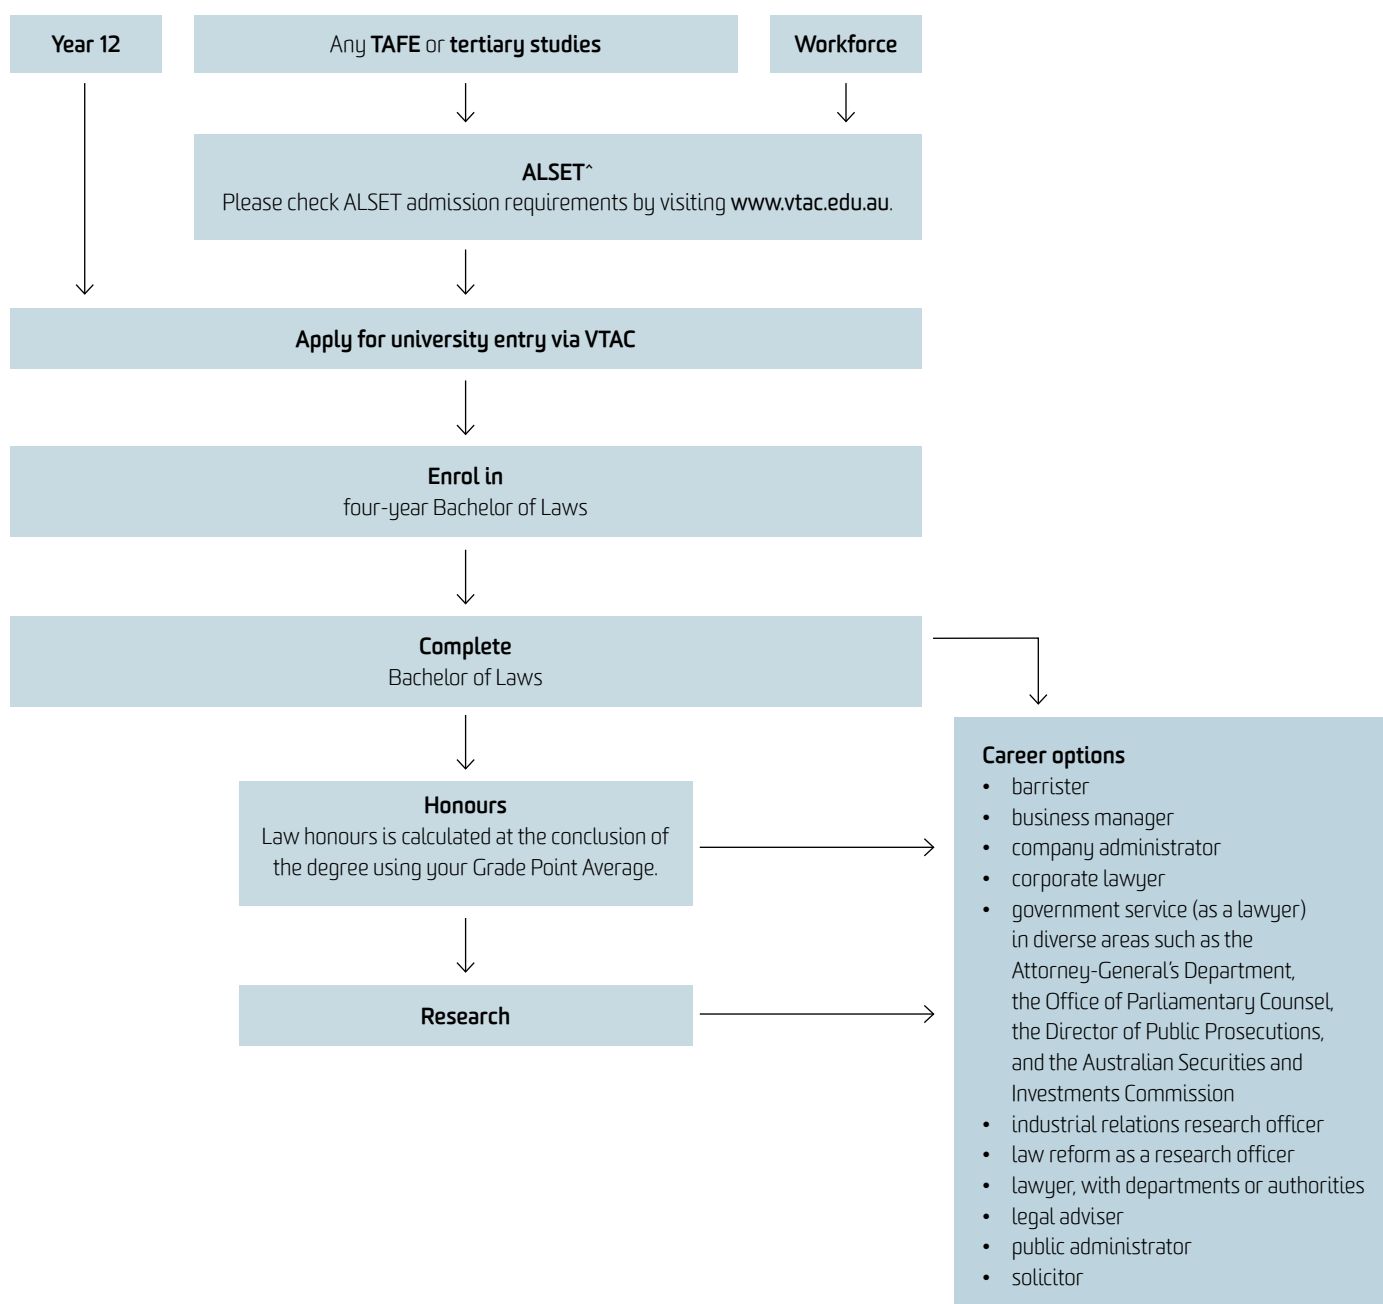

The fees quoted in this booklet are for Australian students in 2013, and may change for 2014 and later years. PATHWAYS

Pathway programs provide alternative entry options that take into consideration previous qualifications or your time in the workforce. Deakin has pathway options for a range of applicants including current Year 12 students, International Baccalaureate (IB) students and non-school leavers. Examples for law students include:

Please note applicants are subject to entry requirements.

For more examples of pathways into Deakin University, please visit deakin.edu.au/pathways.

^ ALSET criteria is currently under review. For the most up-to-date information, please visit the VTAC website www.vtac.edu.au.

Alternative pathway

Deakin University students may apply for an internal course transfer into the Bachelor of Laws (LLB) degree. To be eligible to apply for an internal course transfer, applicants must be currently enrolled in an undergraduate degree at Deakin and have completed at least 8 credit points in that degree.

Applicants must also have attained a minimum of a distinction average (70 per cent and above) in order to be eligible to transfer into a law course. Students who have completed more than two-thirds of their current course are not eligible to apply for an internal transfer.

Applicants must apply directly to the School of Law using a Course Transfer Application Form (available from the Law School Office at the Melbourne Burwood Campus or the Faculty Campus Office at the Geelong Waterfront Campus or the Warrnambool Campus).

Choice of campus

One of the great things about Deakin is that we offer our law degree across three campuses throughout Victoria. The ATAR required for each campus often differs, but the same high-quality degree is delivered no matter which campus you study at. This provides you with more entry options and enables you to transfer your studies from one campus to another.

For more information on pathways into Deakin University, please visit deakin.edu.au/pathways.

DID YOU KNOW?

Deakin offers a range of scholarships to support students in their studies. For more information, please visit deakin.edu.au/scholarships.

REBECCA FRITSCH

BACHELOR OF ARTS – MAJOR SEQUENCE IN INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS/BACHELOR OF LAWS
MELBOURNE BURWOOD CAMPUS

'I've wanted to be a lawyer since I was 8 years old. As I grew up and took legal studies classes, I gained a genuine appreciation for the law, and became interested in social justice issues. I have a strong interest in human rights law, so I combined my law degree with an arts degree (with an international relations major sequence) to gain more insight and perspective. I found that these streams complemented each other very well and allowed me to understand the law in a political context and vice versa.

In 2007 I participated in the India Study Tour. This was a fantastic experience where we got to study at law schools in Mumbai and Delhi, as well as visit the Indian High Court, and meet with representatives from India's business and legal communities. It was a unique opportunity to learn about the laws and culture of a country while actually being there to see it in practice for myself.

There are so many opportunities for Deakin law graduates. I think our degrees, with their commercial focus, are highly regarded by many of the top-tier and mid-tier firms. However, even beyond a career in law, this degree will open doors in the government and business sectors.'

HOW TO APPLY

Applying to study at Deakin University is easy. Whether you are a current Year 12 student, TAFE graduate, mature-age student, non-school leaver, or international student studying VCE in Australia, you can apply to study a Deakin undergraduate course through the Victorian Tertiary Admissions Centre (VTAC) (unless stated otherwise in the VTAC CourseSearch www.vtac.edu.au or under the individual course entries in this booklet).

When you are applying for a course, make sure you check all of the entry requirements carefully. Most courses have prerequisites and some have additional requirements that you will need to complete to be eligible for selection into that course. For prerequisite and extra requirement information, please visit the VTAC website www.vtac.edu.au.

For more information on how to apply, including special consideration and deferment, please visit deakin.edu.au/study-at-deakin/apply.

Australian Law Schools Entrance Test (ALSET)[^]

The ALSET is compulsory for most applicants applying for entry into any of Deakin University's undergraduate law degree programs: law (off campus), law (on campus), arts/law, commerce/law, criminology/law, information systems/law, law/international studies, management/law and science/law.

You are exempt from sitting the ALSET if you:

- are a current Year 12 student; or
- completed Year 12 studies in 2010, 2011 or 2012 and have not undertaken any tertiary studies (including TAFE studies, diploma or above) in the interim; or
- sat the ALSET in 2010, 2011 or 2012 and intend to use the result from that year; or
- are currently enrolled or were enrolled in a Bachelor of Laws (LLB), Bachelor of Laws/combined course or the Juris Doctor (no other law course is eligible under this exemption clause) in 2011, 2012 or 2013 and have completed the equivalent of one full-time year at an Australian university (including at least two law (LLB) units); or
- have successfully completed an Australian postgraduate qualification in law in the past ten years (three out of four units must be law (LLB) units).

The ALSET is designed to assess a range of competencies commonly considered important for successful tertiary study in the area of law. The purpose of the ALSET is to appraise your ability to think critically about issues and understand the material given rather than to assess areas of knowledge of curriculum.

ALSET questions typically require candidates to read and think about a passage of writing, to interpret graphical displays of information, to use mathematical relationships and to reason about tables of data. The questions are based on a wide range of law-related stimulus materials. All the information required to answer questions is contained in the stimulus material. The ALSET is two hours in duration and contains 70 multiple-choice questions.

If you are unsure whether or not you need to sit the ALSET, please email enqblg@deakin.edu.au. VTAC does not have the authority to advise applicants whether they are required to sit the test.

[^] ALSET criteria is currently under review. For the most up-to-date information, please visit the VTAC website www.vtac.edu.au.

DID YOU KNOW?

If your application to study at Deakin is successful but it's not the right time for you to commence university, you can defer your studies in most Deakin courses for up to two years. This means you can postpone your studies to work, travel or volunteer and still retain your university place. For more information, please visit deakin.edu.au/study-at-deakin/apply/enrol-defer-withdraw-or-transfer.
