STAFF NEWS

New ICG Research Fellow: Holli Thomas

Holli Thomas is a graduate of Flinders University. She has been working at Sydney University as a Research Assistant within the School of Government and International Studies. Her PhD thesis examined cosmopolitan ideas of justice and governance and their applicability to conflict resolution in the Israeli/Palestinian conflict. She conducted field research in the Middle East interviewing major political players on both sides as well as spending time with both Israeli and Palestinian civil society organisations. Her current research interests include: globalisation and the transformation of political community; cosmopolitan democracy; global civil society; global security and conflict resolution; Middle Eastern politics; as well as practical and philosophical issues surrounding human rights and human capabilities.
