Folios
Your pocket guide of inspiration and handy tips
Did you know...

Most tertiary education providers require you to submit a folio of your work if you are applying to study a creative arts or design course?

It is a good idea to start thinking about this early to allow time to develop a folio of work that you can use as part of your university submission. This guide is designed to help you put together your folio with handy tips from our creative arts team.

What is a folio?

A folio is a collection of your personal work. It gives an insight into your creative thinking processes and the meaning behind your work. It showcases your passions, technical skills and diversity as an artist.

Prepare

Research your interest areas. Search far and wide. Explore galleries and museums, books or magazines, watch films and live performances, take photos or discover online platforms.
Show
Develop your ideas and showcase your curiosity. Show the creative process, ask questions about your work and collaborate with others.

Find
Investigate what inspires you. Select ideas, materials and techniques and source good examples of your favourite artists, photographers or designers.

What are universities looking for?
Your folio doesn’t need to contain masterpieces, but reveal a process that reflects imagination, curiosity and passion.

What do I need to include in my folio submission?

Write a personal statement (250 words) detailing you, your influences, experience, motivation to study and an explanation of your understanding of the practices within your chosen field (i.e. visual arts). For example:

‘I love watching the film ‘Selma’ because of the art direction so this has influenced my desire to take photographs that are set ups using make-up and costumes. I love the photos of Tracey Moffatt because of the way she draws in personal narratives and storytelling through her work.’

Upload between six to eight examples (following the online instructions) of your work. Consider examples of the following for each course:

Bachelor of Creative Arts (Dance)
Visual material (video or still images) demonstrating any form of movement.

Bachelor of Creative Arts (Photography)
Images that best represent you as a creative image-maker. They can be a series concentrating on a particular theme or concept, or individual images.

Bachelor of Creative Arts (Visual Arts)
Images of artwork that showcase you as a creative maker. The images can be a series or separate works. They can be images of paintings, drawings, installations, video, 2D and/or 3D work.

Bachelor of Design (3D Animation)
Examples of your design work, including, but not limited to, character generation, digital illustration, general drawing, motion design, 3D form.

Bachelor of Design (Visual Communication)
Examples of your design work, including, but not limited to, logo design, text, layout, illustration, photography, 3D form.

These don’t need to be masterpieces but reveal a process that reflects imagination, curiosity and passion. These works can be in-progress or work you have done in the past. A selection committee, who are excited to see what drives and inspires you, will view your work.

'My course provided a safe, non-judgmental, compelling and supportive space in which I could return to dancing. I was also able to pursue my passion for photography by studying the subject as an elective. My studies have allowed me to take advantage of fantastic travel opportunities, which wouldn’t have been possible without the support of Deakin.'
