

Doing gender: relationships, emotions and spaces of learning

Speakers and discussants include:
Jill Blackmore, Penny Jane Burke,
Matt Lumb, Julie McLeod, Susanne
Gannon, Chris Hickey, Jane Kenway, Laura Scholes, Dorte Marie
Søndergaard, Claire Charles,
Amanda Mooney and Leanne Higham.

Convened by Amanda Keddie (Deakin University) and Garth Stahl (University of South Australia), this one-day symposium is focused on discussing previous and current research on emotions and gender, which informs our thinking about young people's experiences with learning today.

The symposium is envisaged not so much as a discussion of findings, but rather a reflection on how the relationship between gender and emotions is being researched, and specifically what approaches and methodologies are being employed.

Monday 13 August 2018

9.30 am—2.30 pm

Deakin Downtown
Level 12, 727 Collins Street, Docklands

$15 Deakin staff and students
$30 General admission

Register online
bit.ly/doing-gender

This one-day symposium is focused on discussing previous and current research on emotions and gender, which informs our thinking about young people's experiences with learning today.

The symposium is envisaged not so much as a discussion of findings, but rather a reflection on how the relationship between gender and emotions is being researched, and specifically what approaches and methodologies are being employed.

Program

Time	Session
9.30 am	Opening address Jill Blackmore (Deakin University)
10.00 am	Theorising new questions on gender, subjectivity and emotions Panel: Penny Jane Burke, Matt Lumb (University of Newcastle), Susanne Gannon (Western Sydney University) and Julie McLeod (University of Melbourne) Discussant: Chris Hickey (Deakin University)
11.00 am	Q&A Facilitated by Amanda Keddie (Deakin University)
11.30 am	Lunch
12.30 pm	Researching gender and emotion in spaces of learning: methods and implications Panel: Laura Scholes (Queensland University of Technology), Dorte Marie Søndergaard (Aarhus University), Claire Charles and Amanda Mooney (Deakin University). Discussant: Leanne Higham (University of Melbourne)
1.30 pm	Q&A Facilitated by Garth Stahl (University of South Australia)
2.00 pm	Closing address Jane Kenway (Monash University)
2.30 pm	Close

Monday 13 August 2018

9.30 am—2.30 pm

Deakin Downtown
Level 12, Tower 2, Collins Square, 727 Collins Street, Docklands

$15 Deakin staff and students
$30 General admission

Register online
bit.ly/doing-gender