Your future in arts, humanities and social sciences

Study when and where you want
Study arts, humanities and social sciences in Geelong, Melbourne or join the thousands of students currently studying online at Deakin’s Cloud Campus. You’ll learn with the same top teachers as on-campus students, with the ultimate flexibility to study anywhere, anytime.

Explore interesting and complementary areas
Open up a world of career options by studying an arts degree. There’s plenty of flexibility within the arts so you can pursue your interests through various specialisations and work placements.

You can also explore combined degrees to complete both courses in as little as four years. For example, combine politics and policy studies with nutrition, for a career in health policy. A combined degree is quicker than studying one degree, followed by another.

Learn from leaders in their fields
Our teaching staff are passionate professionals, recognised as innovators in their fields, which means you’ll learn from the very best. Our academic staff are active in the media and conduct important research, making a positive impact in Australia and around the world.

In my seminars at Deakin, I’ve been exposed to industry professionals who collaborate with us to develop our writing. The growth and experience I’ve gained as a writing student has made the idea of getting published while still at university a tangible goal.

Disciplines

Take a look through our disciplines (also known as study areas) to choose your area of expertise. Knowing which discipline you’re interested in helps career advisers find the best course for your interests. Corresponding courses are featured in the following pages, so you can learn more about what you’ll study, work experience opportunities and the types of careers you could pursue.

When you choose a course, you can then pick which discipline to specialise in within that course. Visit deakin.edu.au for detailed discipline and course information, including a description of the units within each degree.

Arabic
Australia’s trade with the Middle East has more than doubled in the past decade, making it an increasingly important region with broad strategic, economic, religious and cultural influence. Develop Arabic language fluency, and enhance it through an understanding of Middle Eastern history, culture and society.

Arabic at Deakin is a national award-winning program, with in-country language programs available to students.

The Asia-Paciﬁc region, including the Middle East, is seen as an increasingly important region with broad strategic, economic, religious and cultural influence. Develop Arabic language fluency, and enhance it through an understanding of Middle Eastern history, culture and society.

Deakin has one of the few dedicated criminology courses in Australia, offering specialized study for students seeking a career in the criminal justice system. Study topics that you won’t be able to elsewhere – such as security, surveillance, terrorism and policing.

Gender and sexuality studies
Gender and sexuality play important roles in people’s lives and society. Understand this complexity through Deakin’s structured interdisciplinary program, which draws on the creative arts, cultural studies, history, sociology and more.

History
Understand the making of the modern world. Our history units cover themes from colonialism and war to gender and social change, and deal with content from Australia and around the world. You’ll be taught by Deakin’s renowned historians, who are at the forefront of bringing history into public conversations.

International relations
Explore the global system of states and the major challenges of the international system. Understand contemporary issues such as human rights, refugees and asylum seekers, terrorism, war, humanitarian responses and development, capitalism, power, diplomacy and the role of the United Nations, the politics of the United States, and the issues facing the Middle East.

Islamic studies
Islam is one of the three major Abrahamic faiths and is the world’s fastest growing religion, predicted to overtake Christianity as the preeminent creed in the next 50 years. Both Islam and Muslims are often in the media and a major focus of politics at both the state and federal level – but discussions are subject to inaccuracies and misinformation. This study area will help you understand Islam through theoretical and textual analysis, while simultaneously analysing popular culture and current affairs.

Disciplines

Language and culture studies
Learn the world’s most strategically important languages – Arabic, Chinese and Indonesian – with exciting overseas language study tour opportunities available as part of your degree. Learning a language is not only fun – it gives you an insight into different cultures, develops your adaptability and communication skills, and makes you more employable.

Middle East studies
Deakin offers the only major in Middle East studies in Australia, so we’re best placed to give you a comprehensive understanding of the events and issues shaping the region. With an emphasis on both historical and contemporary issues relevant to the analysis of the Middle East, you’ll explore the region’s position in the international system.

Philosophy
What is philosophy? It literally translates as the ‘love of wisdom’. Philosophy asks some of the most fundamental questions that you’ll face in your life. Who or what are you? What do you know, and how do you know what you know? If you value questions as well as answers, philosophy is for you. Join us and investigate topics such as reality, existence, knowledge, values and language.

Politics and policy studies
Enhance your understanding of the big issues in the world today, and develop the skills to make a difference in your lifetime. You’ll investigate the challenges posed to Australia and the world by climate change; asylum seekers and refugees; development; inequality; political parties and new social movements. Examine the ideas behind the policy and the rhetoric – and look globally for different solutions; investigate how policy lessons are learned; and assess the impact on domestic and global politics.

Professional experience and practice
We live in a rapidly changing world on the cusp of an employment revolution. While many of the jobs of today won’t exist in the future, many of the jobs of the future don’t yet exist today. How, then, can you best prepare for a career path that remains largely unknown? This study area offers you real-world learning experiences and is designed to advance your employment outcomes.

Take your studies beyond the classroom
Study a Bachelor of Arts and take part in a Work Integrated Learning (WIL) experience overseas. Choose from our:
- Middle East Study Tour
- Buddhist Studies in India Tour
- Japanese Immersion Program
- US Study Tour (offered every other year).
- professional internship options, currently available in Malaysia and Sri Lanka.

‘At university, I’ve had the opportunity to study in Stuttgart, Germany for six weeks. I’ve been able to learn a new language (German), make friends with students across the globe and travel throughout Europe as part of my degree.’

Merry Bandalan
Bachelor of Arts/Bachelor of Laws student

Religious studies
Understanding religion has seldom been as important as it is today. There is increasing dialogue among the greater religions of the world, but there is also increasing misunderstanding of religious traditions – one’s own and other people’s. This is a multidisciplinary major that looks at religion from diverse viewpoints, with units from the disciplines of anthropology, philosophy, sociology, literary and cultural studies, and others. It also offers the possibility of focusing on particular religious traditions.

Sociology
Study society, social groups and social relations. Thinking sociologically lets you critically understand the processes that shape the society we live in and the cultures within it. As a sociology student, you’ll explore key aspects of everyday life including ethnicity, religion, gender, migration, consumerism, globalisation, deviance, health, youth culture and intimate relationships. Learn how to carry out research projects using both qualitative and quantitative techniques; we’re the only social science discipline in the faculty that teaches these mixed methods.

Sport and society
Sport’s prominent role in society can be traced back to the ancient Olympics in Greece more than 2,700 years ago. Today, sport enjoys ever-increasing popularity and influence – with a profound impact on society from cultural, social, educational, political and economic perspectives.

Explore key issues surrounding sport’s role – past and present – in the modern world in a structured and meaningful way. Through an interdisciplinary approach, you’ll discover a rich and diverse blend of units from history, sociology, education, business and health.

Sustainability and society
Sustainability is an increasingly important factor in private and public sectors, guiding behaviour and decision-making. With increasing social demand for a sustainable future, managing our environmental and social expectations is an increasingly difficult task, discussed and debated through this major.

Spanish
Add an international aspect to your degree to further your career opportunities. Spanish is a major international language with more than 400 million speakers on five continents. It’s the national language of more than 20 countries and the third most widely spoken language in the world (after Mandarin and English). Spanish is an official language of the United Nations and of other international organisations such as the European Union and the Organisation of American States.

CAREERS

The Bachelor of Arts builds valuable and transferable career skills, making you highly employable within many industries. The range of disciplines on offer also lets you follow your passion and develop the specialist skills to pursue the career you want.

You’ll be able to take your degree into a range of careers, including:

- public relations
- publishing
- research
- social work
- tourism.

Professional recognition

Depending on your specialisation, certain majors are accredited by relevant bodies.

If you choose public relations, you’ll study subjects accredited by the Public Relations Institute of Australia. Our design-related units are also recognised by the Design Institute of Australia.

Course structure

24 credit points – at least one arts major (8 credit points) plus one arts minor (4 credit points) sequence. Academic Integrity (A00108) is a compulsory 0-credit-point unit that you must undertake as part of this course. An honours year is available upon completion of this degree.

Honours

The Bachelor of Arts (Honours) gives high-achieving arts graduates the opportunity to undertake advanced study in their chosen discipline.

You’ll undertake both coursework and a substantial research project (thesis) under the supervision of an academic with a professional research record. Conducting your own research lets you focus on an area of particular interest, and gives you the opportunity to contribute to wider debates within your discipline.

High-performing students can also consider the Bachelor of Arts – Advanced (Honours) course. After completing your Bachelor of Arts degree, you can advance directly to a fourth honours year. You complete units related to your specialisation you take, plus receive credit that guarantees entry into our Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Criminology. The Associate Degree of Arts, you’ll have the opportunity to continue studying or use this degree as a standalone qualification. You’ll have guaranteed entry into our Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Criminology depending on which stream you choose.

CAREERS

University can be a challenge, which is why we’ve designed a course that offers you a supported learning environment and a guaranteed pathway into Deakin’s Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Criminology. The Associate Degree of Arts teaches you the learning skills you need to be successful at university, including communication, digital literacy, critical thinking and teamwork skills. From your first trimester, you’ll also complete units from your target degree (depending on which stream you choose).

CAREERS

Upon graduation from the Associate Degree of Arts, you’ll have the opportunity to continue studying or use this degree as a standalone qualification. You’ll have guaranteed entry into our Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Criminology depending on which specialisation you take, plus receive credit that could put you straight into your second year. You’ll also have the opportunity to apply to transition into other bachelor degrees, including communication, design, psychology, health sciences, nursing, commerce, management or science.

An associate degree equips you with the skills to succeed in both university and your career.

Courses

A Diploma of Language can be studied alongside your bachelor degree. Choose from Arabic, Chinese, Indonesian and Spanish.

Diploma of Arabic

The Arab countries of the Middle East and North Africa form an area of critical global importance, having broad strategic, economic, religious and cultural influence. The Middle East comprises the fourth largest trading block among Australia’s overseas trading partners, with the total value of Australia’s trade with the Middle East more than doubling in the last decade. Develop communication skills in modern standard Arabic and enhance your language fluency through contextual knowledge of Middle Eastern history, culture and society.

Students taking Arabic are encouraged to take complementary units to gain background knowledge of the cultural, geopolitical and historical issues relevant to the regions where Arabic is spoken. Gain fluency by developing skills in grammar, vocabulary and sentence structure through participation in activities across a range of topics. You’ll also get the chance to learn about various cultural, sociolinguistic and sociocultural considerations relevant to the Arabic language.

Course structure
8 credit points.

Diploma of Spanish

Deakin’s Diploma of Spanish is a great complement to studies in any discipline, plus you’ll gain a global perspective and boost your employability. Through this course, you’ll gain fluency in Spanish by developing an understanding of grammatical structures and lexical fields through a communicative approach, and by developing skills through guided activities that target listening, speaking, reading and writing competencies.

You’ll complete six language-acquisition units to gain a high level of proficiency in Spanish. You’ll also develop a nuanced understanding of the cultural, historical, sociolinguistic and political dimensions of the societies and cultures that make up the Spanish speaking world. In-country language programs are also available to students studying Spanish.

Course structure
8 credit points.

Why study a language?

• Set yourself up to live and work in another culture.
• Boost your global career aspirations, and develop language and cultural understanding.
• Combine work, study and travel.
• Get a unique edge in a competitive job market.
• Build multitasking and decision-making skills.
• Improve your memory.
• Refine your first language and communication skills in general.
• Develop your brain function.

Give your bachelor degree a language diploma add-on

By studying a language alongside your degree, you’ll gain linguistic skills, as well as essential cultural, historical and social perspectives, giving you a leading edge in a range of exciting and challenging careers. Language skills in Arabic, Chinese (Mandarin), Indonesian and Spanish are all strategic, in terms of Australia’s interests and are important in diplomacy, defence, security, commerce and trade-related fields.

‘The course has met my expectations and allowed me to develop personally, academically and professionally. The range of opportunities – particularly overseas study and internships – has been a highlight of my time at Deakin.’

Application Requirements
- Bachelor of Arts
  - Entrance Requirements
    - A senior secondary certificate of education, or
    - A certificate of equivalent merit, or
    - Other evidence of academic capability judged to be equivalent, including completion of or enrolment in a Vocational Education and Training course and/or relevant work or life experience.
  - Application Requirements
    - All applicants must complete the requirements for the Bachelor of Arts undergraduate degree or equivalent, and have a weighted average mark of 55 or over in all Level 3 and 4 units. Students must complete a major in the discipline in which they wish to specialise. Entry is based on a number of factors, including weighted average mark, a short research proposal, and availability of supervision.

Honours

If you value independent thinking, and are looking for a pathway to research degrees and increased career opportunities, consider studying an Honours year. A specialised year of study, honours helps you develop in-depth knowledge of a particular discipline through research, so you can focus on what you’re really passionate about. For example, high-performing students interested in a research degree can study the Bachelor of Arts – Advanced (Honours), which lets you enrol immediately in a four-year honours program.
