Accommodation

Get into the heart of it with a move into Deakin Res.

accommodation.deakin.edu.au

'Only Deakin Res offers a student accommodation experience, that is safe and engaging, a place that helps you thrive as well as explore the possibilities of who you might become.'

Studying at university isn't just about obtaining a degree. It's a time to fully immerse yourself in the lifestyle and culture that Deakin has to offer and there is no better way to do this than by opting to live on campus and join our close-knit residential community.

As you transition into your future home you will be welcomed into a conveniently located on-campus community that values you as a person and provides you with a safe and supported environment as you grow.

You will have access to a diverse year-round event and activity schedule, including a tailored orientation and transition program, and have exclusive access to a range of well-equipped and modern recreational and study facilities.

Research shows that by living with like-minded peers during your studies you are also more likely to achieve higher academic results than those who choose to live off campus.

"Living on campus has helped my studies in so many different ways. I have 24-hour access to multiple study rooms in the residential precinct and being only a few minutes' walk from the library and my classrooms is so convenient, particularly when completing group assignments.

It's also taken a lot of pressure off my transition to university. I learnt so much about how university works and how to navigate online materials from the people I've met living on campus."

1. Connected

On arrival you will be welcomed with a friendly “hello” and shown around. Residential Leaders, who are carefully selected and live within your community will invite you to a series of meet and greet events and introduce you to other residents. All designed to help you feel safe and comfortable in your new home.

Our extensive orientation and transition programs are a time you simply can’t miss. Run by our Campus Life team and Residential Leaders these small and large events are where you can meet people, get to know your surrounds, have fun and make lifelong friends.

You will find your residential community is truly multicultural, with residents from across Australia and around the world. Allowing you to enjoy new experiences and embrace cross cultural differences.

2. Convenient

When you live on campus, you will definitely have more time to do the things you want. Start each day knowing your class is no more than a five minute walk away. All of the university support services are also close by, ensuring you have even better access to everything the university has to offer.

You also get so much more than a room. Each accommodation precinct includes study rooms, free laundries, a movie room, common rooms, pool tables, outdoor spaces and communal BBQ’s. Once classes are over, you will have plenty of time to explore the local area, as each of our campuses are well connected to public transport networks.

You can also forget the hassle of setting up rental arrangements and amenities – everything is all ready for you when you arrive and our experienced team are never too far away if and when you need them.

3. Safe

When you live on campus you have the peace of mind that each of our campuses offers 24 hours, 7 days a week customer service with direct access to an on-site staff member. Perfect if you need to arrive after hours or you accidentally lock yourself out.

Your health and wellbeing is also one of our top priorities. We’ll make sure you feel safe, remain connected with your community, you’re kept informed, and that all safety, hygiene and additional cleaning measures are in place.

Our preventative maintenance approach ensures your home is constantly being monitored and maintained to a comfortable standard.

4. Supported

Feeling homesick? Or just need a helping hand? Carefully selected and trained volunteer Residential Leaders, who know what it’s like to live on campus, live within your community. They will introduce you to our community values, provide transitional support, and act as the first point of contact for you. They along with residential staff are also trained to recognise and refer welfare concerns and have connections with other university services when required or a priority appointment is needed.

Our on-campus accommodation provides a nurturing environment with a collaborative culture of respect that enables you to thrive. Our residents and staff share the responsibility of building and maintaining a healthy and happy community, and all experiences are guided by our RESPECT values.

5. Nurtured

The balanced on-campus living environment provides you with opportunities to develop key employability skills. Our residents comment regularly that they have become more independent, are better equipped to resolve conflict and have superior problem-solving skills.

You can also take on leadership roles within the residential community in your 2nd and 3rd years and participate in a range of personal development opportunities, form strong bonds with other leaders and build connections with our staff.

You may even find yourself performing better than your non-resident peers. Statistically Deakin’s residents are more likely to complete their degree and achieve higher grades than their non-residential peers.

“To have the residential precinct full of life again is a feeling that I cannot explain... It feels great to walk into a common room full of people who are doing random things that they enjoy. Whether they’re playing pool, watching a movie, talking in a group, cooking, or even knitting, it’s great to see people getting to know each other and joining in their little random activities.”

Inclusive Housing

We offer a range of single and mixed gender accommodation options at each of our campuses and our residential student community is truly multicultural, with residents from around Australia and the world.

Our inclusive housing policy has been designed to meet the personal, social and academic needs of residents and the broader residential community.

These include areas of accommodation which have been exclusively reserved for adult learners/mature age or postgraduate students, school leavers or those requiring affordable housing.

On applying you will have the opportunity to indicate specific preferences at certain campuses.

These preferences are not guaranteed but include gender specific, quiet areas and accommodation for partners or couples.

Shared Spaces

Living on campus means you'll have lots of places to study, enjoy a break, or catch up with friends.

Some of the shared spaces include:

- Large common rooms with fully equipped kitchen, seating area, pool tables and table tennis.
- Movie room.
- Outdoor BBQ areas.
- Outdoor areas and landscaped gardens.
- Study rooms.
- Multi-purpose recreational rooms.
- Town Hall.

Which is the right room for me?

This is purely a personal decision. As a general rule, shared accommodation options are more social. You use the same kitchen, lounge and dining area as the other students in your unit.

Self-contained apartments or studios allow you to cook in your own kitchenette and watch TV in seclusion. Communal kitchens and breakout areas exist in the main buildings so you also have the option to study and relax with your fellow residents.

"I tell everyone that they should do it. I just think that it's an opportunity like no other and it can have such an impact on your life. It gives you a chance to put yourself out there, and it sets you up for not only a place to live while at Uni but also a career afterwards."
