Overview

The APA style of referencing consists of:

1. in-text citations in the body of the paper that include the author, the date and often a page number
2. References at the end of the paper, giving full bibliographic details of all in-text citations.

In-text citations

- Provide the author and date for all in-text citations.
- Always include a page number for direct quotes.
- You can also include page numbers for paraphrases.

Summary

Hughes et al. (2012) investigated the relationship between personality and the use of Facebook and Twitter for both information and social purposes.

Paraphrase

Hughes et al. (2012, p. 567) suggest that this may be because the information sought from Facebook can be obtained socially.

Quote

Hughes, Rowe, Batey and Lee (2012, p. 563) hypothesised that “the short, quick fire nature of Twitter usage determined by the limit of 140 characters per ‘tweet’ may appeal to those high in conscientiousness...”.

References

The four basic elements of a reference list entry in APA style are:

Author, Initials. (Date). Title. Publication data.

Use the hanging indent (0.5 in. = 1.27 cm) paragraph style for each new reference and double spacing

DOIs and URLs

- For all print or online articles that have a DOI, include the DOI in the reference list entry
- If an online work has both a DOI and a URL, include only the DOI.
- use the following DOI format <http://doi.org/xxxxx>
- It is acceptable to use default hyperlink displays OR leave as plain text
- If no DOI is provided for online articles, then use the URL or homepage URL of the publisher if publicly available i.e. not from a library database
- If no DOI is available and you have accessed the source from an academic or library database (i.e. the URL is not available to all readers) reference like a print journal.

One or two authors

In-text citations

One author:

Joo (2019) OR (Joo, 2019)

Two authors:

Adelson and Eckert (2020) OR (Adelson & Eckert, 2020)

Three or more authors

Use the first author et al. in every citation

Witten et al. (2011) OR (Witten et al., 2011)

Session et al. (2020) OR (Session et al., 2020)

References

- Include all authors for sources with up to 20 authors
- Where there are over 20 authors, list the first 19 authors followed by an ellipsis (...) and then include the last author's name.

Reeve, W., Ardley, J., Tian, R., De Meyer, S., Terpolilli, J., Melino, V., Tiwari, R., Yates, R., O'Hara, G., Howieson, J., Ninawi, M., Zhang, X., Bruce, D., Detter, C., Tapia, R., Han, C., Wei, C., Huntemann, M., Han, J., ... Group authors

In-text citation

Sometimes the author is an organisation, government agency, association or corporate body. If the name of a group is long and the abbreviation is familiar to readers, cite the full name and provide the abbreviation in brackets in the first instance. Then use the abbreviation in subsequent references.

The National Health and Medical Research Council (NHMRC, 2013) provides practical and realistic recommendations for healthy eating...

References

- Works are entered in the reference list alphabetically by name of authoring organisation.
- Use the most specific agency when numerous government agencies are listed as author

Australian Government.

Citing multiple authors at the same point

When citing more than one source at the same point in the text, list the sources alphabetically in the same order in which they would appear in the reference list and separate each with a semicolon within the same parentheses.

There have been several studies on the links between personality and Facebook use (Amichai-Hamburger & Vinitzky, 2010; Ross et al., 2009; Ryan & Xenos, 2011).

Web page / Web document

In-text citations

Websites and web documents should be cited according to the name of the author, which is often a group or an organisation.

The Australian Psychological Society (2014) provides nine strategies for communicating better about issues of violence, peace and social justice.

If no author is provided for a webpage or web document, cite by title.

Figures and tables

Including a copy of, or adapting, an image, map, graph or table from a publication

Each figure (image, map or diagram) or table in your work needs to be identified with a number and a title, e.g. Figure 2 Accuracy in Experiment 1 for each type of feedback

Immediately following this, you should provide a copyright statement. For example, if you were reproducing an image from a book you would include:

From / Adapted from Title of Book (any edition or volume information, p. xxx), by A. N. Author and C. O. Author, year, Place of Publication: Publisher. Copyright [year] by Name of Copyright Holder.

Adapted from Managing Therapy-Interfering Behavior: Strategies From Dialectical Behavior Therapy (p. 172), by A. L. Chapman and M. Z. Rosenthal, 2016, American Psychological Association. Copyright 2016 by the American Psychological Association.

If you were reproducing an image from a website, you would provide:

From / Adapted from “Title of Web Document,” by A. N. Author and C. O. Author, year (<http://URL>). Copyright [year] by Name of Copyright Holder.

From “Nutrition, Physical Activity and Obesity: Data, Trends and Maps. Alabama Indicator Details Percent of Adults Aged 18 Years and Older Who Are Obese,” by Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, 2015 (http://nccd.cdc.gov/NPAO_DTM/DetailedData.aspx?indicator=29&statecode=30). In the public domain.

And any copyright statement would also require a corresponding reference entry:

Government publication

References

- When numerous layers of government agencies are listed as the author of a work, the most specific agency as the author in the reference. The names of parent agencies not present in the author position should appear after the title as the publisher.
