Acknowledgement of Country

Deakin University acknowledges the Traditional Custodians of all the unceded lands, skies and waterways on which Deakin students, staff and communities come together. As we learn and teach through virtually and physically constructed places across time, we pay our deep respect to the Ancestors and Elders of Wadawurrung Country, Eastern Maar Country and Wurundjeri Country, where our physical campuses are located. We also acknowledge the many First Nations from where students join us online and make vital contributions to our learning communities.

Explore our immersive precinct

Learn in collaborative, new ways and explore concepts, locations and global topics through immersive learning experiences in the Nyaal precinct at the Geelong Waurin Ponds Campus.

Nyaal is a cutting-edge, interactive learning environment with a 360-degree theatre, collaborative think tank and event space. The Nyaal precinct ensures students in disciplines such as communication, criminology, education and history gain valuable interactive experiences before heading out into the professional world.

#1 Victorian university for course satisfaction

Year on year, Deakin's students have the highest course satisfaction rate of all Victorian universities.<sup>2</sup> We've ranked this highly for the past 14 years. Students are particularly happy with our:

- teaching
- learning resources
- student support
- skills development
- learner engagement.

#1 Victorian university for graduate employment<sup>1</sup>

We're proud to say that 90.8% of Deakin undergraduates find jobs within four months of completing their course.<sup>1</sup> At Deakin, you can study with confidence and get the knowledge and skills you'll need to progress your career.

'As part of a major in Indonesian Culture and Language, the standout moment was joining Deakin's Study Abroad Program. That was the turning point. Being given the chance to live and learn overseas, alongside classmates and supported by staff, pushed me outside my comfort zone in the best possible way. It sparked a long-term drive to explore international opportunities and build a global career.'

Learn a language and expand your world

Study one or more of some of the world's most strategically important languages: Arabic, Mandarin Chinese, Indonesian and Spanish. Each of these languages is in the top 10 most widely spoken languages in the world.

You may choose to study a language as a major or minor within your degree, or add on a specialist language diploma alongside your undergraduate studies.

You don't have to have any prior knowledge to study a language at Deakin (if you do have prior knowledge, we can accommodate that too).

Some of our languages offer in-country study options, in-country study options, where students' skills will be accelerated through total immersion. Further opportunities include international internships and professional placements; many employers recognising the value of language learning combined with international experience.

Disciplines

Take a look through our disciplines to choose your area of expertise. Our career advisers can identify the best course for you based on your interest area. Corresponding courses are featured on the following pages, so you can learn more about what you'll study, professional work experience opportunities, and the types of careers you could pursue. Once you have chosen a course, you can then pick which discipline to specialise in within that course. Visit deakin.edu.au/humanities for detailed discipline and course information, including a description of the units within each degree.

Anthropology

Anthropology is the study of humanity in the broadest sense. Anthropology at Deakin focuses on the ways human society creates its communities in diverse cultural settings. Studies in anthropology prepare you to understand and work with people in diverse and international settings. Topics studied include poverty and development, crime and violence, belief systems, health and illness and human ecology.

You may find employment in community relations, the education sector, government departments, the health industry, media corporations, research consultancies and welfare organisations.

Arabic

Australia's trade with the Middle East has more than doubled in the past decade, making it an increasingly important region with broad strategic, economic, religious and cultural influence. Studies in Arabic help you develop communication skills in modern standard Arabic, with language fluency further enhanced through an understanding of Middle Eastern history, culture and society. In-country language programs are available to students undertaking a major sequence in Arabic.

Chinese

Mandarin Chinese is one of the world's most important languages. It is the official language of the People's Republic of China, Taiwan and Singapore and is one of the five official languages of the United Nations. Develop your Chinese language proficiency at Deakin through various program streams designed for beginners, post-VCE learners, and heritage speakers. Enhance your intercultural communication skills by exploring Chinese culture, history, and society across a broad range of topics.

Criminology

Gain a theoretical and practical understanding of the causes of crime and key problems associated with law enforcement, court processes and punishment. Criminology examines how societies deal with a wide range of crime issues, including violence in the home, organised crime, black markets, environmental crime, and technology-facilitated violence. The overall objective of a criminology degree is to develop your understanding and critical interpretation of a wide range of knowledge related to crime, and to develop skills for responding effectively to the challenges of crime.

Digital cultures

Learn to evaluate and critique how digital technologies impact society. Examine how Artificial Intelligence, social media and the internet influence information, communication, ethics and power. Explore how digital technology affects decision-making systems locally and globally.

Education

Gain a strong understanding of education across diverse contexts. Learn about educating children, young people and adults by exploring topics like the sociology, politics and the policy of education, as well as the history and philosophy of education. You'll also learn how psychology is applied to the work of educators to better understand how people learn and become motivated, and how we teach each other about inclusivity and diversity. Deakin graduates with an education major apply these skills in schools as teachers and leaders, and beyond the classroom as chief executives, managing directors and policymakers building influential and meaningful careers.

English – Children's literature

Deakin is a world leader in the study of literature for children and young adults. Discover key trends in children's texts across a range of media, and how stories for young people reflect and challenge the values of their time. This discipline caters to anyone interested in children's literature as a prominent domain of literary production, to those intending to work with children and young people as primary or secondary teachers and librarians, and to those who wish to produce texts for young people.

English – Creative writing

Gain expertise, practical experience and develop skills in creative writing. With an emphasis on publication or the achievement of professional standards, you'll undertake various forms of constructive, descriptive and narrative writing, progressing to editing, non-fiction and fiction writing, script writing, poetry writing, and digital forms of writing.

Award-winning university career service<sup>3</sup>

DeakinTALENT will prepare you to secure the jobs of tomorrow. Our award-winning service is available to you from day one and will support you for the rest of your career. You'll have lifetime access to career coaching, industry networking opportunities and a comprehensive suite of digital resources designed to help you become the most employable version of yourself.

deakintalent.deakin.edu.au

English – Literature

Literature is the door to new understandings of cultures and histories. Our literary studies scholars have international profiles in philosophy, poetry, ecology and Australian literature, and will guide you in critical and creative journeys through great literature from the medieval era to today. There are also many opportunities for your own creative writing and critical analysis.

Film and television studies

Develop your creative ideas, practical skills and screen culture knowledge. This discipline will immerse you in various storytelling techniques, histories, developments and contexts that enable the creation of screen productions in Australia and around the world. As you delve into the exhibition of screen works, you'll explore the different ways audiences engage with film and television locally and globally.

Gender and sexuality studies

Through an integrated study of local experiences and transnational flows of knowledge and influences, you'll gain insight into the key forces which shape our understandings and lived experiences of gender and sexuality, both as cultural phenomena and as embodied practices. In particular, the program emphasises the intersectional dimensions of gender and sexuality, addressing questions of class, citizenship, ethnicity, race, religion, ability and geographical location.

History

You have the opportunity to explore the nature of the modern world; the forces that have shaped our past and present, and the ways historians interpret historical events. Themes covered include the world in the 20th century, war and peace, modernisation and social change, colonialism, and gender.

You may find employment opportunities in the education sector, local government, media corporations, museums/heritage organisations, research consultancies and tourism organisations.

Indigenous studies

Build understanding, recognition and validity of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander ways of Valuing, Being, Knowing and Doing. Completing this sequence of study will facilitate a deeper understanding of Australia's multiple histories. It will foster productive and meaningful relationships in culturally diverse communities, especially with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Peoples.

Culturally responsive graduates can apply these skills and practices to a wide range of services, including education, creative industries, and health and community services.

Be rewarded for your hard work

A Deakin scholarship is more than just a financial boost. It is our chance to acknowledge your accomplishments and reward your hard work, setting you on the path to success at university. Our extensive scholarship program includes three key scholarships:

- Vice-Chancellor's Academic Excellence Scholarship
- Deakin Scholarship for Excellence
- Deakin Student Support Scholarship.

We also offer a range of donor- and government-funded scholarships. Each is unique with differing criteria, rewarding aspiring students from diverse backgrounds.

deakin.edu.au/scholarships

Our teachers are experts in their fields and will support you in your journey.

Disciplines

Indonesian

As the world's fourth most populous nation and a close neighbouring country, Indonesia is vitally important to Australia. By studying Indonesian language, you'll gain a range of communication skills and an understanding of Indonesian history, culture and society. Exciting opportunities for international placements enrich this learning and enhance employability.

Indonesian language skills and experience in diverse cultural settings are valued attributes. Career opportunities in Federal and State Government departments include DFAT, AusAID, intelligence agencies and the education sector.

International relations

Spanning diplomacy, strategy and global engagement, you'll gain an in-depth understanding of international political systems and relationships. You'll explore why and how states cooperate, compete and sometimes go to war. Examine the nature of power and security, the influence of globalisation on state interactions, and the ways the international system responds to human rights, humanitarian and environmental challenges. Our graduates are working in influential roles, including as policy and planning managers, corporate services managers and chief executives or managing directors.

Global experiences

Study a Bachelor of Arts and benefit from the chance to take part in a global experience.<sup>4</sup> Unique opportunities may include:

- global study tours
- global volunteering projects
- in-country language study in Oman, China, Indonesia or Spain
- individual or team professional internships in a range of destinations or online
- social enterprise team internships in Borneo.

Media and communication

Sitting at the intersections of multiple disciplines, you'll build communication skills that create impact and lead to influential leadership roles. You'll learn to ask and answer big contemporary questions about the state of the news media, big data and surveillance and the rise of celebrity culture. Deakin communication graduates are building careers across creative industries, corporate leadership and government, from marketing specialist to chief executives and managing directors.

Middle East studies

Gain a comprehensive understanding of the events and issues shaping one of the most politically complex and fascinating regions of the world. By learning about the history, culture and political systems of a range of Middle East nations, you will be able to develop insight and understanding about some of the most urgent political and humanitarian situations of our time, such as the Israel-Palestine wars, and post-war reconstruction in Syria.

Media studies

This is an area of rapid and continuous technological, political, economic and social change. Much of the recent explosion in the stock of human knowledge is linked with developments in media. Studying this discipline will equip you with a unique multiskilled qualification appropriate for many careers and job markets.

Performing arts

Immerse yourself in the exciting physical, social and conceptual possibilities of performing arts. Learn how performance and embodied creativity intersects with innovative thinking, community enrichment and technology. Study the diverse ways in which performing arts can engage and make a difference.

Philosophy

Philosophy at Deakin asks questions about the nature of reality, truth, knowledge, meaning, the mind, personal identity, the good in ethical and political life, and the value and power of art. At the same time, it fosters the development of skills in critical and creative thinking, argumentation, communication, problem-solving and research.

Politics and policy studies

Enhance your understanding of the big issues in the world today and develop the skills to make a difference in your lifetime. You'll investigate the challenge posed to Australia and the world by climate change, asylum seekers and refugees, development, inequality, political parties and new social movements. Examine the ideas behind the policy and the rhetoric, then look globally for different solutions. Next, investigate how policy lessons are learned and assess the impact on domestic and global politics.

Public relations studies

Choosing a public relations major means your future career could be in the newsroom, a top agency, a digital start up or government. Public relations practitioners are 21st-century communication specialists who build and manage relationships between organisations, agencies and the public. With a focus on ethical and sustainable communication practice, you'll learn how to protect and enhance brands and their reputations. You'll build key knowledge and skills in areas such as event management and campaigns, social media tactics and media relations, and strategic planning, management and communication. You'll graduate with a rich and diverse portfolio of work.

Religious studies

Understanding religion has seldom been as important as it is today. There is increasing dialogue among the greater religions of the world, but there is also increasing misunderstandings of religious traditions. Religious studies at Deakin explores religions from diverse viewpoints and methodologies, including perspectives from the disciplines of anthropology, philosophy, sociology and Indigenous studies.

Social media

Working across a range of social media platforms, you will specialise in digital content creation to engage audiences and build communities. You will combine production skills with various online storytelling forms, applying knowledge of the ethical guardrails and legal constraints that come with producing content for present day industries.

Disciplines

Design your future career

Build a degree that aligns with your unique values and interests. As well as choosing from the broad range of disciplines listed here, you can develop additional areas of expertise by adding minor sequences to your degree. Options include:

- Animation
- Design thinking
- Digital cultures
- Global challenges
- Sport and society
- UX design<sup>5</sup>
- Web design.

Find out more at deakin.edu.au/course/A310.

Sociology

Sociology is the academic study of society. Explore social change and how social structures, social institutions and culture shape the lives of individuals and communities. Engage with contemporary issues in the global and Australian landscape such as how society shapes (and is shaped by) illness and health policies, gender and sexuality, religion and new forms of spirituality, migration and inequality, violence and social control.

Spanish

Spanish is a thriving international language, with close to 543 million Spanish native speakers. Deakin's Spanish studies will help you develop a wide range of communication skills in Spanish, regardless of whether you have any previous experience in the language. Our sequential proficiency levels will take you from scratch to fluency or near fluency.

Sport journalism

Transform your passion into a career as a sports reporter. Deakin's sport journalism major takes you beyond the game to the broader business, legal, and ethical issues associated with sports. You'll combine practical journalistic and production skills across all news media platforms. Your strength in writing, messaging and audience engagement could lead to positions such as communications advisor, editor and writer. Deakin graduates are working in positions such as journalists in newsrooms and also stepping into leadership and management positions that require skills in team coordination and strategy. You'll learn from teachers who are leaders in their fields, all while developing your professional network and portfolio.

Strategic advertising

Advertising is a dynamic and creative field of practice which provides a complementary study option for students seeking a professional outcome in the Bachelor of Arts. Work on client-driven projects to plan campaigns and produce advertisements for brand promotion across traditional and digital media. Combining practice and theory, strategic advertising develops your technical and communication skills so you can build a portfolio.

Visual arts and photography

Combine in-depth disciplinary training in visual arts, photography and digital technologies with open-ended studio-based studies. Gain both the practical studio skills and adaptable critical thinking skills you'll need to participate in creative industries.

Visual communication design

Enter the dynamic world of professional design. Learn the tools, strategies and techniques required to be an adaptive, creative practitioner. From day one, you'll be mentored by established designers and industry leaders. You'll learn the fundamental building blocks of design and will discover how to translate ideas into smart solutions to pressing global issues. Using the latest technologies, you'll work across industry sectors including digital and publishing, social media, mobile apps, the web, and immersive and interactive experiences.

Study the Bachelor of Arts (Psychology) and gain insight into why people think, feel and behave the way they do. At the same time, you will also unlock a world of opportunity through your study in the arts. Learn the perfect mix of skills sought by employers by studying one degree, with exposure to two distinct areas of interest. Combining your passions in psychology and the arts can open doors and make you more employable once you graduate.

Professional recognition

The Bachelor of Arts (Psychology) degree at Deakin meets the requirements of the Psychology Board of Australia (PBA). Upon graduation of this degree, you'll have gained a three-year undergraduate psychology sequence that is accredited by the Australian Psychology Accreditation Council (APAC) and recognised for registration purposes by the PBA, enabling you to undertake additional study in pursuit of provisional registration.

Registration

For information on pathways to registration, see Deakin's 2027 Undergraduate Psychology booklet or visit deakin.edu.au/faculty-of-health/school-of-psychology.

Careers

Completing this degree will give you important skills, such as critical analysis and systematic thinking. With both cross-disciplinary and specialist knowledge, you'll have the ability to confidently enter a variety of fields including:

- creative arts
- education
- health and human services
- historical and cultural heritage
- human resources
- law enforcement
- media and communication
- not-for-profit aid
- politics and government
- public health
- social service
- youth work.

To take your career in psychology to the next level, you may opt to continue with further study, which can lead to registration as a psychologist. This will broaden your career opportunities in specialist fields of psychology such as:

- clinical psychologist
- cognitive neuroscientist
- counsellor
- criminal psychologist
- educational and developmental psychologist
- family therapist
- forensic psychologist
- health and community psychologist
- organisational psychologist
- rehabilitation counsellor
- sport and exercise psychologist
- youth psychologist.

Put your skills into practice

At Deakin, you'll learn from industry experiences through our unique partnerships, peer mentoring and transition-to-work activities, so that you can graduate with the confidence and skills that employers are seeking. For example, as a Bachelor of Arts (Psychology) student, you'll have the opportunity to gain industry experience in the Psychology at Work (Internship) and explore the principles of psychology in practice.

Combining passions in psychology and the arts can open up many doors, making you more employable in the future.

The International Studies stream will be taught at Geelong Waterfront campus and elective units will be taught at the Geelong Waurin Ponds Campus. Please note this is an indicative plan which considers units, pre-requisites and course rules.
- 12 PT means part time.
- 13 Trimester 2 intake is available only for students with no prior language study.
- 14 Delivery of this course is across multiple campuses; see course webpage for further details.
- 15 Students applying to all Bachelor of Education (Primary), Bachelor of Health and Physical Education, Master of Teaching (Primary) and Master of Teaching (Secondary) are required to sit the Casper test, a non-academic assessment. Find out more at deakin.edu.au/casper.
- 16 This course is also available at the National Indigenous Knowledges, Education, Research and Innovation (NIKERI) Institute. Find out more at deakin.edu.au/nikeri.
- 17 To undertake this diploma with another degree, applicants must first apply through VTAC for a place in the degree and, once enrolled, then apply with the faculty for the diploma.
- 18 Students must have completed 24 credit points of study successfully and achieved a Weighted Average Mark (WAM) of 60 to continue through to the Master of International Relations. Students not having fulfilled this requirement are eligible to graduate with the Bachelor of Arts as an alternative exit.
